By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

The Reverend Dr. Fosdick, of New York, in whose church nobody ever goes to sleep, says science causes religion to deal "with new ideas in the theoretical realm, and with new powers in the practical realm."

The old Bible story, Dr. Fosdick says, "telling stories of men living on a flat, stationary earth, with skies and light above and a place of the dead underneath," no longer answers the purpose.

No State, says Dr. Fosdick, will be able to pass laws strong enough to hold back science. He is right about that. The theory that the round earth travels around the sun is more generally accepted, although the man that gave the truth to the world was compelled to deny the truth on his knees and spent years of his old age in prison for contradicting the old Bible story.

Two kinds of good news for automobile owners:

First, you are told that if and when the natural supply of gasoline gives out, synthethic gasoline will be made to take its place.

Second, scientists have discovered a system of bud grafting on rubber trees which should increase the yield of a tree 400 per cent.

It is predicted that the cost of rubber delivered in this country will drop from twenty-five cents to less than ten cents a pound.

Scientists say they can make synthethic rubber as well as synthetic gasoline, but that probably will be postponed, like artificial gasoline making, until natural supplies diminish.

A French scientist proves by careful observation that cancer is NOT contagious. To do away with the false, persistent suspicion is a great blessing. Married couples, living together, one the victim of cancer, do not contract the disease from each other, and cannot contract it. That is proved by reliable statistics.

The German Ambassador to Washington says the Grand Canyon was the model for America's new style of skyscraper, with its setbacks. A more interesting suggestion is that the Grand Canyon will supply a good model for cellars to be dug under skyscrapers in the future, when flying

Mrs. Ruth Warden, 25, Is Successful At Attempt at Suicide

Two Bichloride of Mercury Tablets Taken August 14 Ends Fatally for Victim at City Hospital Last Night.

WOMAN CAME HERE FOUR MONTHS AGO

Body Taken to Miller Funeral Parlors Pending Receipt of Word From Relatives Residing in Marietta.

Mrs. Ruth Allender Warden, 25, died last night in the City hospital as a result of swallowing two 30-grain bicholiride of mercury tablets taken with suicidal intent, it is said, in a houseboat at the foot of Market street on Sunday evening, August 14.

Lived in House Boat.

Mrs. Warden, who formerly resided in Marietta, came to East Liverpool about four months ago and during that time made her home with a family in a houseboat on the river front. No cause was assigned for her taking the poison.

The body was removed to the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street, where it is being held pending word from relatives at Marietta.

LINDBERGH GLIDE NEW DANCE STEP

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—"The Lindbergh Glide," a tango waltz with a nifty take off, and the "Dixie Stomp," a syncopated fox trot with a sway to it, are making a strong bid to supplant the "Charleston" and the "Black Bottom" as the popular dances of the coming season.

These new dances, and many others, are being exhibited today at the convention of the dancing masters of America. After due consideration the dancing masters will place their official approval on what is to be the dance of the winter season. Other dances under consideration include the "Yankee Prance," the "Finale Hop," the "Co-ed" and the "Pasillo."

FESS DENIES CANDIDACY FOR COOLIDGE JOB

Ohio Senator Addresses 2,000 People at Xenia.

FALSE REPORT

Explains Why Cal "Does Not Choose to Run in 1928."

XENIA, O., Aug. 23.—Senator S. D. Fess of Ohio, regards as "unfounded" the rumors that the mantle of President Coolidge may fall upon his shoulders when the Republican party convention meets to select a candidate for presiednt next year, he told an audience of 2,000 here last night.

His utterances came at the outset of a speech to a civic gathering after he had been introduced by City Manager S. . Hale as a "possible Republican nominee for presiednt."

The publicity he has received as a possible nominee, the Senator declared is entirely due to the friendship of Washington newspapermen.

"While I appreciate the honor for the sake of my family," he said, "there is absolutely no foundation for these rumors. When you read these favorable references to me, they are only the kindly feeling the newspapermen of Washington have for me. If there is any possibility of my being nominated or becoming president, I should be the most unhappy man here, for I know the burdens of the office."

Fess declared his judgment is that the next leader of his party is the "man who is now presiednt," but declared that was not the wish of Mr. Coolidge, who assured the Ohio senator, during the latter's recent visit to the Black Hills, that he was fully determined upon his course.

"Ten years is too long for any man to be president," Fess said Mr. Coolidge told him. "People get tired of him. This is not a one-man country."

COMMITTEE TO VISIT AIRPORT

C. of C. Invited to Attend Demonstration at Bettis Field.

Members of the aeronautics committee of the Chamber of Commerce have been invited by D. Barr Peat, manager of the Bettis airport, near McKeesport, to attend a demonstration in radio controlled beacon lights which have been erected by the Westinghouse electric company at Bettis field tonight.

The new invention, according to word which has been received here, makes it possible for a flyer to turn on the search lights, illuminating the field, by radio as he nears the airport.

Those from this city who will attend the demonstration will include the aeronautics committee consisting of Charles Hendershot, C. W. Hellyer and Robert Perry; H. B. Barth, Chamber secretary, and also Michael Turk, R. F. Thompson and Frank Swaney.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Republican central committee will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night in the municipal court building when plans will be outlined for the fall campaign. All candidates are urged to attend.

Call for the meeting was issued by Willis Davidson, chairman of the city committee.

NAME COMMITTEES

Chief Executive Indicates he Will View Park Site.

Governor A. V. Donahey and other state officials are expected to visit Columbiana county at the annual field meet and picnic of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association which will be held at the Guilford State Park in Center township, near Lisbon, on Saturday, Sept. 24.

Date for the outing was set at a meeting of the county association in the court house at Lisbon last night. Invitations to the state's chief executive and other state officials who have been instrumental in the establishment of the Guilford state park will be extended immediately. The governor some time ago indicated that he was anxious to view the site of the newest of the state parks to be established in the Buckeye state.

Date for this year's picnic is later than the customary time because of the delay which was occasioned in the taking over of the land included in the state park. Members of the fish and game association decided to await until the state had closed the deal for the land before staging their annual field meet. Visitors from this city, Salem, Wellsville, East Palestine, Lisbon and all parts of the county will attend.

Committees to handle various phases of the outing were named at last night's meeting. First meeting of these committees will be held in the court house at Lisbon Thursday evening, Sept. 1.

SHERIFF HUNTS YOUTH'S SLAYER

MOUNT VERNON, O., Aug. 23.—Bloodhounds and a posse of a hundred armed men led by Knox county deputy sheriffs today were searching a hundred acre swamp, at Fredericktown, near here, for the trial of Richard Cole, alias Joseph Smith, alleged slayer of Harry Swank, 17, Ankenytown.

Swank was killed, and Richard Roberts, 20, was shot Sunday night during an argument at Fredericktown. The alleged slayer, fled after the shooting, and search for him was made Monday near Mt. Gilead and at Fredericktown. The Mt. Gilead search proved fruitless, and Monday night bloodhounds were brought from Pomeroy to scour the swamp where a man was reported hiding yesterday.

PEN SENTENCE IS INCREASED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—After his attorneys had withdrawn an affidavit charging that he was insane, Joseph Russell, youthful "smoked glasses" bandit, had a sentence of thirty years, already imposed, increased to 54 years, 11 months and 21 days, by Common Pleas Judge Walther, when he entered a plea of guilty to a third robbery indictment here.

Geologist's Story Declared to Be Hoax

State Mine Inspector Asserts Affair Was Hatched to Influence Tennessee Highway Commission to Build Road Past Cave.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 23.—Lawrence A. Ashley's disappearance in Knickajack cave and the crews of "rescue workers" were a hoax and a fraud promoted for publicity purposes and for influencing the state highway commission to route a road by the cave, an official report of state mine inspector O. P. Pile, in the hands of Governor Austin Peay today declared.

Members of the rescue crews who claimed they penetrated unknown recesses in the cave in search of the geologist-explorer returned with fabulous stories of the beautiful underground passages in efforts to attract tourists. The cave is only two miles in length, muddy, full of rocks from falling roofs and most unattractive, Pile declared. He charged both Ashley and those who said they were seeking him with perpetrating a hoax.

Several newspaper correspondents were today planning to accompany Ashley over the route he claims to have traveled during the five days he was reported lost in the subterranean passages of Nickajack cave.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Sacco and Vanzetti are dead—but the hue and cry of their dramatic passing rang around the world today.

Whining sing-song of an electric current whipped through their bodies and burned out their lives while the guns of 200 police encircled the prison to make sure they did not escape Massachusetts justice.

Nothing like it was ever witnessed in an American city. The streets of Boston and other cities saw marching and near-rioting in sympathy with them.

Radicals of the world protested the innocence of the condemned men and demanded their liberation. In London, Paris, Berlin and Moscow there were riotous demonstrations against America—but they died just the same in grim old Charlestown prison hard by the monument of Bunker Hill, and today their bodies lay on marble slabs in the North Grove mortuary.

To the radicals of the world and to their sympathizers among the intellectuals, Sacco and Vanzetti were symbols of legalistic and capitalistic oppression, and martyrs to the cause of political liberalism.

To the law of Massachusetts, stern and unyielding as the rock of Plymouth, they were a pair of anarchistic aliens who had perpetrated an unusually brutal crime in the murder of a factory paymaster and his guard at South Braintree, and who for seven years have managed to escape paying the penalty therefor.

They died as they lived — defiant, contemptuous of the "system" that took their lives, unrepentant, unorthodox, and protesting their innocence to the end. They went to the chair with their heads up, their tread firm, unafraid and without benefit of clergy.

The Review-Tribune Offers Its Readers An Automobile Road Book

All motorists, and particularly tourists, have need of a concise road book with descriptions of the highways.

To many people the thought of travel in unknown country entails doubt. For this reason it is imperative that some carefully prepared information be secured.

The Washington Bureau of this paper has for distribution a booklet that exactly fills the requirements.

In addition to giving description and markings of the great national highways it contains many suggestions that will save time, money, and annoyance.

It will help not only in planning a tour, but also in carrying it through.

Clip the accompanying coupon and send it to the Washington Information Bureau of this paper. Enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. The book will go forward by return mail.

I enclose herewith four cents in stamps for a copy of the AUTOMOBILE ROAD BOOK.

"BLACK BOXES" ROBBED OF STARTLING PAPERS, HOOSIER PROSECUTOR CLAIMS

WILLIAM H. REMY, MARION COUNTY PROSECUTOR

XIII

By BONITA WITT

Staff Writer for Central Press and The Review-Tribune.

(A grand jury report on the mysterious "black boxes" that have stirred Indiana is expected soon.)

Pandora's famous box scarcely created more curiosity than have the little "black boxes" among Indianians. These boxes reputed to hold the private correspondence and documents of D. C. Stephenson, erstwhile power recently were turned over to the Marion county (Indianapolis) prosecutor William H. Remy, and his assistants by L. G. Julian, of Evansville, former associate of Stephenson.

Indiana has been waiting for September to come—scheduled date of an explosion. In the absence of Remy, who has been ill, the grand jurors have been meeting three days a week to read the documents the boxes contain.

One of Stephenson's attorneys told the writer: "I know, the prosecutor knows, and the grand jurors know, that all the dynamite isnt in the 'black boxes.' Of course we can't tell yet when all the material will be turned over, if ever."

Silence as to Contents.

No intimation has come from the grand jury room concerning the evidence they have been perusing. Whether the boxes contain information of sufficient import to enable the jurors to bring in criminal indictments remains to be seen.

Several persons close to Stephenson have hinted that the former Klan grand dragon, sitting in his cell at Michigan City, threatening to tumble down state and city officials from the seats to which he avers he raised them, thinks he has in his possession contracts which in reality no longer are where and with whom he once placed them. Stephenson's friends insist he has been "double-crossed and sold-out" by folks who have "peddled" documents with which he entrusted them.

However, they assert, there's still plenty of "fireworks" left to 'bust' Indiana politics wide open" when the grand jury makes its report.

Working for Release.

In recent weeks Stephensons lawyers have intensified their efforts to obtain his release from prison. If the state supreme court does not act within a "reasonable" length of time on the appeal of his conviction now before the court his lawyers may file a new petition which one of the lawyers declares "will contain some startling disclosures."

Clarence Benadum, a Muncie attorney connected with the case, says his client was not on the trip to Hammond, Ind., which resulted in the subsequent death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, and as the result of which Stephenson was sentenced to life imprisonment. He intimates that the names of several prominent Hoosiers may be mentioned in a new petition as having been members of the party which went to Hammond.

Dubbed the "Inks Club."

Lloyd O. Hill, Stephenson's Indianapolis attorney, calls those persons formerly intimate with the deposed grand dragon who now repudiate him, members of the "Inks Club," which, he says, has a large membership in Indiana. "Inks" means: "I Never Knew Stephenson."

Theyre the men Stephenson threatens.

THRILLS PLENTY IN GILBERT FILM

"Twelve Miles Out" Scores Hit at American.

Thrills, romance—and John Gilbert. This is the combination that makes "Twelve Miles Out" one of the most sensational successes of the screen today.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer adventure drama, now playing at the Ceramic theatre, is a sensational example of what motion pictures can do; it sways an audience by a gigantic theme; it astounds with the daring of its thrills; it enchants with the delicacy of the love story that like a golden thread runs through the amazing tale of intrigue, daredevil chances and desperate battles.

It gives Gilbert an ideal role—a swashbuckling hero with all the romantic appeal that marked his work in "The Merry Widow." It has all the whimsical bravery of "Bardelys" in ultra modern garb—for it is essentially a story of today, based on the very problem the nation faces.

The cast is as notable as the story, adapted by A. P. Younger from William Anthony McGuire's great stage success. Joan Crawford gives a remarkable performance as the heroine. Ernest Torrence is inimitable always; as McCue, the rumrunner, a strang mixture of the sinister desperado and the whimsical humorist, he has a role that perhaps only Torrence could play. Bert Roach as his comical satellite, and Tom O'Brien as his burly bodyguard are two other outstanding figures. Edward Earle gives a clever delineation as the cowardly attorney. Paulette Duval, Dorothy Sebastian, Gwen Lee and others of note are also in the cast.

African Home Brew Dealt Death Blow By New Amendment

PRETORIA. — "Skokiaan," favorite brew of the African native, has received its death-blow. Under amendments of the Custom Management Act only such yeast as had actually been on order or shipped for export to South Africa at the time of the Second Reading of the Amendment Act of May last year will be allowed to enter the country.

After that all importers will be required to furnish a permit to import, signed by the Commissioner of Police, and only quantities required for legitimate purposes will be allowed to enter the country. The tremendous native trade in imported yeast will be quashed.

Trade in locally manufactured liquor will be expected to increase, there being no legislation which can affect it; but it is doubtful whether the native will develop a real taste for it after enjoying his "Skokiaan" for so many years.

Trade Pacts And Peace

The French and German commercial treaty, signed recently, was three years in the making, but it seems to have been worth working for all that time. It has been called a "commercial Locarno," because the men who have labored over its details believe it will have far-reaching effect on the maintenance of good will and peace between the two countries. This pact will be in force only until Dec. 15, 1928, when it will be replaced by a regular commercial treaty.

The present trade agreement is broad in scope and covers most classes of goods bought and sold between the two stations. Under its terms each country will be a "favored nation" to the other in regard to these transactions. French agriculture will receive special benefits. Germany has agreed to lower many tariffs and not to exceed existing ones in such important categories as cotton, wool, silk, leather, metallurgical and mechanical products, soap, perfumery and porcelain. Germany will be able to export to France chemical products, electrical instruments, pottery, porcelain and toys. Each country will ship a limited amount of its wines into the other country.

Commerce is an important cause of peace or war, according as it is carried on with less or more friction between countries. This French and Germany agreement appears to eliminate considerable friction. There will be less need of large armaments in the world when there is no more commercial friction.

The Cost Of a Welcome

New York City is nothing if not a lavish host. It was revealed the other day that the metropolis had spent $70,000 on three recent affairs—the welcome to Lindbergh, the reception to the president of Cuba and that to the United States fleet.

Of these three stirring events, the Lindbergh celebration came highest. It cost $50,000. The highest single item in that bill, $13,101, was for the erection of grandstands. There were engraving and florist bills, banquet and hotel bills, and so on. The illuminated scroll presented to Lindbergh cost $900.

Perhaps it was worth the money. None of us would grudge any expenditure that was necessary to do sincere honor to Charles Lindbergh or his fellow aviators—there were also costly receptions for Byrd's group and for Chamberlin, but those bills have not yet been made public. Yet such large totals inevitable raise a question as to whether the money is most wisely spent.

Public banquets and receptions get to be pretty commonplace because they follow a stereotyped form that becomes a bore to everybody concerned—heroes, celebrities, and admiring throng alike. We look forward to a day when some enterprising welcoming committee will be original enough to think up something new for this purpose. Elaboration has already gone so far that we suspect any really new and pleasing reception will be surprisingly simple in its nature. And then it will probably cost a whole lot less than $50,000.

Easy Divorce

Says a Chicago judge, who has presided long over a divorce court:

"The man cheats his wife. The wife cheats the husband. They both cheat the children, and when the break comes they both conspire to cheat the judge.

"Everybody knows that divorce evidence is mostly lying. Why obstruct the courts with fraudulent divorces? A judge hears 40 or 50 cases a day. He can't investigate all of them. Perjurers have a fine field in divorce cases.'

A nasty state of affairs, surely, if the judge is right—and doubtless he has considerable grounds for his drastic statements.

His Honor seems to think there is no hope for improvement. People will be divorced anyhow, he thinks, and they might as well do it without perjuring themselves. That might be done, he suggest, by making divorce still easier, and fixing it so that "any two people who are tired of living together could go to the county clerk, pay $5 and get a divorce."

That is doubtless satirical. The obvious remedy is to stop issuing divorces in any court at the rate of 40 or 50 a day, take more time to inquire into the merits of each case, with adequate help, and punish those who are proved guilty of perjury. Surely the divorce evil is great enough to warrant handling divorce cases with as much formality and care as we do ordinary civil or criminal cases.

Bigger Boys

The Journal of the American Medical Association states that there has been an increase in the stature of American boys during the last 50 years. More than 100,000 boys, of American-born parents, attending unselected schools, have been measured and their stature compared with that of a nearly similar group measured 50 years ago.

Horace M. Gray, M. D., writing in the Journal several factors as contributing to this development. They are the decline of child labor, more intelligent nutrition, improvement in clothing styles, more exercise and recreation, and medical and social progress.

It seems quite reasonable and even certain that these things have contributed to the healthy growth of American boyhood. Even if an individual cannot increase his own stature merely by taking thought, it is obvious that men and women, by acting upon sound thinking, can do a lot toward increasing the stature, the health, usefulness and happiness of the boys and girls now coming up to maturity and the unborn youngsters who will thus be given a better chance in life than most of their predecessors.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trai ns— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—These are drab days for those gay creatures of the Fortuitious Forties known as chorus girls. The demand for them has been slimmer than ever before in Rialto history. There were just three whopping choruses in town during the summer.

Only two cabarets had a merry-merry of consequence. And the sagging night club business pyramided the misery. It used to be the chorine could butter over less summer days with a roof garden engagement. But this, too, was denied them.

Any girl who leaves the fireside to seek an engagement in New York this winter is courting bitter disappointment. The little up-state theatrical agencies in Times Square now have more than a dozen applicants for every job.

Scores already have moved from theatrical hotels to hall rooms—and others have vanished. A personnel manager of a big department store reports more than twenty chorus girls working at basement counters. Others have become manicure nad telephone girls.

But those who cling to the forlorn hope with that rare optimism of their calling are in desperate plight. It is no exaggeration that many are without necessary food and clothing. Headlines recently have told of a number turning on gas or searing lips with acid.

The chorus girl who is basking nightly in the spot is a target for ready dinner buyers and the Johns who go "buy-buy." But the jobless girl finds herself completely out of the picture. Her halo is made by the lights and tinsel. Without them she is often as commonplace as the mold on a pat of butter.

Most of them are improvidential. They did not put in the bank and consequently are unprepared for rough weather. The most affluent have had apartments in the West Seventies, but so bleak is the outlook that even hard hearted landlords have cancelled many leases.

Under the canopy of a West 44th street theatre as the audience was departing the other evening three blind men a few feet apart came along tapping the sidewalk noisily with canes. The play happened to be one in which a man suddenly blinded played a tragic role and a shower of coin fell into each cup.

Speaking of chorus girls, one wonders where they select those airy names. Among the few now playing are: Aini Hendricks, Thaile Hamilton, Bee Basil, Leonita Waters, Heddika Rich, Carlindy Abby, Deever Haines and Seattle Wright. There is an unbeatable collection of first names! And Gladys Glad is quite a famous and beautiful show girl.

Wardrobe mistresses in theatres play a sympathetic part in the lives of the chorus girl. Many were of the chorus in opulent days and they know by bitter experience the value of thrift. The chorus girl in trouble and away from her parents usually turns to the wardrobe women for advice and consolation.

Many successful girls of the chorus "adopt" mothers. They are kindly gray haired ladies, often old character actresses, in need of shelter and in exchange for a place to live they look after the fluttering birdlings and attempts to protect them from worldly dangers.

The Stage Door Inn is a co-operative enterprise in midtown, providing positions for unemployed chorus girls as waitresses. They are permitted, in order of application to work there for a few weeks between engagements.

A theatrical agency manager, contrary to popular impression, says most girls who fall in chorus girl jobs and are out of employment for long periods return to their homes. The popular idea is that they take a short cut to the "dogs."

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

State Care of Child Wards.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—What the state should do for and with children who are dependent, defective, delinquent, neglected, incorrigible, or illegitimate is the subject of a survey that has just been made public by the Children's bureau of the United States department of Labor. The survey was made in seven counties in Pennsylvania. Whether that suffices as a cross section of conditions throughout the United States is not stated by Dr. Neva R. Deardorff, who prepared the report.

Before presenting its rtcommendations, however, the report dispels an illusion that is almost as old as community care of unfortunates when it says that orphanage and illegitimacy can no longer be regarded as the chief explanations of why children are cared for in public institutions and by public or semi?public agencies.

From time immemorial it has been assumed that the child that the state had to care for was, in nine cases out of ten, either an orphan or one of those greater unfortunates left on the doorstep of the world by an anonymous father.

The survey made in Pennsylvania showed that the majority of the children covered by it were neither orphans nor nameless. Out of a total of 996 children accepted for care by institutions during the period included in the survey, 621, or 62 per cent, were known to have come directly from the parental home in which at least one parent was living, or from the home of relatives, while 341 of the 688 children accepted for care by agencies came from homes in which the same conditions prevailed.

On account of defective investigations prior to accepting the children and the lack of an adequate recording system among some agencies, there were 437 children in the two groups for whom it was impossible to ascertain the child's whereabouts When accepted for care. If the facts concerning this large group had been known, it is stated, it is probably that the percentages mentioned would be even higher.

Purpose of the Survey.

The survey was undetrtaken by the federal agency at the request of the Pennsylvania Children's commission, which had been appointed "to study all laws relating to child welfare and to suggest revisions and amendments to the statutes of Pennsylvania which relate to children." The big idea was to ascertain, if possible, the extent to which children were growing up under conditions of special hardship and handicap, and the methods employed by local communities and by the state to ameliorate the hardships and remove the handicaps.

The counties included in the study were among those that, presumptively, reflected conditions ordinarily considered favorable to a fairly high degree of general well-going. Nevertheless the conditions revealed were shocking.

For instance, who would dream that in a state such as Pennsylvania children, in this day and age, could be subjected to indenture, or "bound out" to work for their "keep" until they attained their majority? Yet in one of the counties, a dairying community, an indenture form dating as far back as 1630 was found to be in use and fifteen children were under indenture. It was not until the last session of her legislature that Pennsylvania definitely abolished indenture.

Again, in another county there were neither children's institutions nor placement societies. The one organized effort in behalf of children is reported to have been a humane society that had as its primary object the prevention of cureIty to animals!

Conditions resulting from so-called child marriages were cited as contributing largely to the problem of caring for children whose parents are unable to or will not care far them. However startling it may be it is none the less true that Pennsylvania has no law fixing the age at which children are marriageable with the consent of their parents or guardians, conditions in that respect being almost as archaic as those in India where cradle marriages are not infrequent.

Court Decisions Make the Law.

Failing a statutory provision, judicial decisions have established common-law ages at which girls nad boys may be legally married if they have the consent of those responsible for them—12 years for girls and 14 years for boys. During the year covered by the survey there were in the seven counties 627 marriages in which one or both parties were under 18 years of age. One of the brides was only 12, 10 of them were but 14 years of age, 50 were 15, 202 were 76, and 322 were 17. Five of the grooms were only 16 years old, 33 were 17, and 164 were from 18 to 20.

The insecure, defective, broken, and

Trade Pacts And Peace

The French and German commercial treaty, signed recently, was three years in the making, but it seems to have been worth working for all that time. It has been called a "commercial Locarno," because the men who have labored over its details believe it will have far-reaching effect on the maintenance of good will and peace between the two countries. This pact will be in force only until Dec. 15, 1928, when it will be replaced by a regular commercial treaty.

The present trade agreement is broad in scope and covers most classes of goods bought and sold between the two stations. Under its terms each country will be a "favored nation" to the other in regard to these transactions. French agriculture will receive special benefits. Germany has agreed to lower many tariffs and not to exceed existing ones in such important categories as cotton, wool, silk, leather, metallurgical and mechanical products, soap, perfumery and porcelain. Germany will be able to export to France chemical products, electrical instruments, pottery, porcelain and toys. Each country will ship a limited amount of its wines into the other country.

Commerce is an important cause of peace or war, according as it is carried on with less or more friction between countries. This French and Germany agreement appears to eliminate considerable friction. There will be less need of large armaments in the world when there is no more commercial friction.

The Cost Of a Welcome

New York City is nothing if not a lavish host. It was revealed the other day that the metropolis had spent $70,000 on three recent affairs—the welcome to Lindbergh, the reception to the president of Cuba and that to the United States fleet.

Of these three stirring events, the Lindbergh celebration came highest. It cost $50,000. The highest single item in that bill, $13,101, was for the erection of grandstands. There were engraving and florist bills, banquet and hotel bills, and so on. The illuminated scroll presented to Lindbergh cost $900.

Perhaps it was worth the money. None of us would grudge any expenditure that was necessary to do sincere honor to Charles Lindbergh or his fellow aviators—there were also costly receptions for Byrd's group and for Chamberlin, but those bills have not yet been made public. Yet such large totals inevitable raise a question as to whether the money is most wisely spent.

Public banquets and receptions get to be pretty commonplace because they follow a stereotyped form that becomes a bore to everybody concerned—heroes, celebrities, and admiring throng alike. We look forward to a day when some enterprising welcoming committee will be original enough to think up something new for this purpose. Elaboration has already gone so far that we suspect any really new and pleasing reception will be surprisingly simple in its nature. And then it will probably cost a whole lot less than $50,000.

Easy Divorce

Says a Chicago judge, who has presided long over a divorce court:

"The man cheats his wife. The wife cheats the husband. They both cheat the children, and when the break comes they both conspire to cheat the judge.

"Everybody knows that divorce evidence is mostly lying. Why obstruct the courts with fraudulent divorces? A judge hears 40 or 50 cases a day. He can't investigate all of them. Perjurers have a fine field in divorce cases.'

A nasty state of affairs, surely, if the judge is right—and doubtless he has considerable grounds for his drastic statements.

His Honor seems to think there is no hope for improvement. People will be divorced anyhow, he thinks, and they might as well do it without perjuring themselves. That might be done, he suggest, by making divorce still easier, and fixing it so that "any two people who are tired of living together could go to the county clerk, pay $5 and get a divorce."

That is doubtless satirical. The obvious remedy is to stop issuing divorces in any court at the rate of 40 or 50 a day, take more time to inquire into the merits of each case, with adequate help, and punish those who are proved guilty of perjury. Surely the divorce evil is great enough to warrant handling divorce cases with as much formality and care as we do ordinary civil or criminal cases.

Bigger Boys

The Journal of the American Medical Association states that there has been an increase in the stature of American boys during the last 50 years. More than 100,000 boys, of American-born parents, attending unselected schools, have been measured and their stature compared with that of a nearly similar group measured 50 years ago.

Horace M. Gray, M. D., writing in the Journal several factors as contributing to this development. They are the decline of child labor, more intelligent nutrition, improvement in clothing styles, more exercise and recreation, and medical and social progress.

It seems quite reasonable and even certain that these things have contributed to the healthy growth of American boyhood. Even if an individual cannot increase his own stature merely by taking thought, it is obvious that men and women, by acting upon sound thinking, can do a lot toward increasing the stature, the health, usefulness and happiness of the boys and girls now coming up to maturity and the unborn youngsters who will thus be given a better chance in life than most of their predecessors.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trai ns— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—These are drab days for those gay creatures of the Fortuitious Forties known as chorus girls. The demand for them has been slimmer than ever before in Rialto history. There were just three whopping choruses in town during the summer.

Only two cabarets had a merry-merry of consequence. And the sagging night club business pyramided the misery. It used to be the chorine could butter over less summer days with a roof garden engagement. But this, too, was denied them.

Any girl who leaves the fireside to seek an engagement in New York this winter is courting bitter disappointment. The little up-state theatrical agencies in Times Square now have more than a dozen applicants for every job.

Scores already have moved from theatrical hotels to hall rooms—and others have vanished. A personnel manager of a big department store reports more than twenty chorus girls working at basement counters. Others have become manicure nad telephone girls.

But those who cling to the forlorn hope with that rare optimism of their calling are in desperate plight. It is no exaggeration that many are without necessary food and clothing. Headlines recently have told of a number turning on gas or searing lips with acid.

The chorus girl who is basking nightly in the spot is a target for ready dinner buyers and the Johns who go "buy-buy." But the jobless girl finds herself completely out of the picture. Her halo is made by the lights and tinsel. Without them she is often as commonplace as the mold on a pat of butter.

Most of them are improvidential. They did not put in the bank and consequently are unprepared for rough weather. The most affluent have had apartments in the West Seventies, but so bleak is the outlook that even hard hearted landlords have cancelled many leases.

Under the canopy of a West 44th street theatre as the audience was departing the other evening three blind men a few feet apart came along tapping the sidewalk noisily with canes. The play happened to be one in which a man suddenly blinded played a tragic role and a shower of coin fell into each cup.

Speaking of chorus girls, one wonders where they select those airy names. Among the few now playing are: Aini Hendricks, Thaile Hamilton, Bee Basil, Leonita Waters, Heddika Rich, Carlindy Abby, Deever Haines and Seattle Wright. There is an unbeatable collection of first names! And Gladys Glad is quite a famous and beautiful show girl.

Wardrobe mistresses in theatres play a sympathetic part in the lives of the chorus girl. Many were of the chorus in opulent days and they know by bitter experience the value of thrift. The chorus girl in trouble and away from her parents usually turns to the wardrobe women for advice and consolation.

Many successful girls of the chorus "adopt" mothers. They are kindly gray haired ladies, often old character actresses, in need of shelter and in exchange for a place to live they look after the fluttering birdlings and attempts to protect them from worldly dangers.

The Stage Door Inn is a co-operative enterprise in midtown, providing positions for unemployed chorus girls as waitresses. They are permitted, in order of application to work there for a few weeks between engagements.

A theatrical agency manager, contrary to popular impression, says most girls who fall in chorus girl jobs and are out of employment for long periods return to their homes. The popular idea is that they take a short cut to the "dogs."

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

State Care of Child Wards.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—What the state should do for and with children who are dependent, defective, delinquent, neglected, incorrigible, or illegitimate is the subject of a survey that has just been made public by the Children's bureau of the United States department of Labor. The survey was made in seven counties in Pennsylvania. Whether that suffices as a cross section of conditions throughout the United States is not stated by Dr. Neva R. Deardorff, who prepared the report.

Before presenting its recommendations, however, the report dispels an illusion that is almost as old as community care of unfortunates when it says that orphanage and illegitimacy can no longer be regarded as the chief explanations of why children are cared for in public institutions and by public or semi-public agencies.

From time immemorial it has been assumed that the child that the state had to care for was, in nine cases out of ten, either an orphan or one of those greater unfortunates left on the doorstep of the world by an anonymous father.

The survey made in Pennsylvania showed that the majority of the children covered by it were neither orphans nor nameless. Out of a total of 996 children accepted for care by institutions during the period included in the survey, 621, or 62 per cent, were known to have come directly from the parental home in which at least one parent was living, or from the home of relatives, while 341 of the 688 children accepted for care by agencies came from homes in which the same conditions prevailed.

On account of defective investigations prior to accepting the children and the lack of an adequate recording system among some agencies, there were 437 children in the two groups for whom it was impossible to ascertain the child's whereabouts When accepted for care. If the facts concerning this large group had been known, it is stated, it is probably that the percentages mentioned would be even higher.

Purpose of the Survey.

The survey was undetrtaken by the federal agency at the request of the Pennsylvania Children's commission, which had been appointed "to study all laws relating to child welfare and to suggest revisions and amendments to the statutes of Pennsylvania which relate to children." The big idea was to ascertain, if possible, the extent to which children were growing up under conditions of special hardship and handicap, and the methods employed by local communities and by the state to ameliorate the hardships and remove the handicaps.

The counties included in the study were among those that, presumptively, reflected conditions ordinarily considered favorable to a fairly high degree of general well-going. Nevertheless the conditions revealed were shocking.

For instance, who would dream that in a state such as Pennsylvania children, in this day and age, could be subjected to indenture, or "bound out" to work for their "keep" until they attained their majority? Yet in one of the counties, a dairying community, an indenture form dating as far back as 1630 was found to be in use and fifteen children were under indenture. It was not until the last session of her legislature that Pennsylvania definitely abolished indenture.

Again, in another county there were neither children's institutions nor placement societies. The one organized effort in behalf of children is reported to have been a humane society that had as its primary object the prevention of curelty to animals!

Conditions resulting from so-called child marriages were cited as contributing largely to the problem of caring for children whose parents are unable to or will not care far them. However startling it may be it is none the less true that Pennsylvania has no law fixing the age at which children are marriageable with the consent of their parents or guardians, conditions in that respect being almost as archaic as those in India where cradle marriages are not infrequent.

Court Decisions Make the Law.

Failing a statutory provision, judicial decisions have established common-law ages at which girls nad boys may be legally married if they have the consent of those responsible for them—12 years for girls and 14 years for boys. During the year covered by the survey there were in the seven counties 627 marriages in which one or both parties were under 18 years of age. One of the brides was only 12, 10 of them were but 14 years of age, 50 were 15, 202 were 76, and 322 were 17. Five of the grooms were only 16 years old, 33 were 17, and 164 were from 18 to 20.

The insecure, defective, broken, and

Britain Has Made Rapid Strides in Clothing Industry

LONDON.—The greatest development ever known in British industry has taken place since the world war in the women's clothing trade. This fact is revealed in statistics just issued, which show that though women may wear less today than they ever did, they are better dressed than at any time in their history.

One-seventh of the working population of Great Britain is now employed in the clothing trade, acerding to statistics. Tailors number more than 280,000; dressmakers and milliners nearly 200,000; 40,000 persons are engaged in the silk and artifician trades, and ther are 24,000 lace-workers.

The boot and shoe bill of the women of the country annually totals $125,000,000—or between thirty and forty million pairs, while $70,000,000 annually are expnded on hats. Something like $200,000,000 are spent on miscellaneous items.

CHAPLIN'S WIFE AND CHILDREN GET $825,000 IN CASH

DIVORCE DECREE GRANTED AFTER SETTLEMENT OF MONEY MATTERS

$200,000 Trust Fund for Comedian's Two Children.

COSTS RUNS HIGH

Work on Chaplin Picture "Circus" to be Resumed.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—The big studio tent of "The Circus," Charlie Chaplin's unfinished picture, was hoisted and staked out again today as the comedian, now a free man, prepared to resume his acting after an eight months' layoff. Lita Gray Chaplin received an interlocutory decree of divorce from Chaplin yesterday. The comedian settled $825,000 upon her and her two small sons in a property settlement reached out of court.

A trust fund of $200,000 for Sydney Earle, 16-month, and Charles Spencer, Jr., 26 months, was included in the settlement. Mrs. Chaplin will have the babies custody and will administer the trust fund on their behalf.

Although Chaplin himself was expected to go today to Catalina Island for a short rest, other members of the cast of the "Circus" were ordered to take up work at once on the unfinished comedy. Chaplin and his supporting players, including Merna Kennedy, leading lady, stopped work on the picture when his wife sued for divorce eight months ago.

"The Circus" must be turned over to United Artists for Christmas release. Alfred Reeves, manager of the Chaplin studios, declared, and nothing will be permitted to delay it further.

With the general terms of the property settlement upon Lita Gray Chaplin made public, speculation centered today upon details of the huge award. According to reports considered trustworthy, Mrs. Chaplin will receive $375,000 in cash. The remaining $250,000 will be paid over a three-year period, it was said, with 4 per cent interest accruing upon the deferred payments. The trust fund will be established within five years, it was reported. Until that time Chaplin will pay $1,000 a month for the care of the children.

In all, the divorce action is expected to cost the comedian well over a million dollars, including such intangible losses as lost earning power during the past eight months. Not considering the loss of earning power or his own attorney's fees, it was reported that Chaplin will pay approximately $950,000 for his freedom.

machines land on roofs, and are lowered, for parking, in cellars a mile deep.

Paris dressers, realizing that long hair is "coming in," are buying stocks of "transformations," long hair while waiting for bobbed hair to grow.

Short hair is common sense, of course, and, in time, long hair will be as obsolete as a vein over the face.

Long after men had cut their hair, primitive women let their hair grow long, because, matted with grease, it was a good thing in cold weather.

Long hair seems "feminine" to men. Women do what men want, and the long hair comes back. It will go away again.

Uncle Sam owes $18,000,000,000 in bonds outstanding. The bonded indebtedness of all the States totals $1,846,000,000. Borrowing by the States, stimulated perhaps, by those willing to pay a high price for bonds free of national income tax, has been criticized. But State debts are small, considering the wealth of the nation.

Florida, Nebraska and Wisconsin have no State debt. South Dakota has the highest per capita, $85.15. New York State owes the most and can afford to. Central Park in New York City is worth more than the whole State debt.

Half the money borrowed by the States has been spent on good roads, a fact that justifies the borrowing. If it could be said that the other half had been spent on public schools the situation would be perfect, and it wouldn't matter if the States owed a billion apiece.

The Carnegie Foundation has spent years and money most usefully to promote care of the teeth and proper education of dentists. In many cases the poor pay more than the rich for inferior dental work. The number of really good dentists is totally inadequate. Ninety per cent of children at least have their teeth neglected. Neglected teeth prevent perfect digestion and a good blood supply. Infected teeth kill millions through heart disease and other troubles.

Navy Orders Cruiser

all but vanished with the coming of dawn today—one week after the ill-fated "Golden Eagle" and "Miss Doran" hopped off on their disastrous attempt to reach Honolulu.

Capt. Erwin and navigator Eichwaldt, aboard the "mercy" plane, "Dallas Spirit" have been missing since Friday.

Not a single authentic clew as to the fate of the three planes and their seven occupants has been found, despite the fact that innumerable naval vessels, planes and fishing smacks have searched every mile of the great circle course between here and Hawaii.

Reluctantly friends of the missing fliers are resigning themselves to what seems the inevitable. Sympathy centers on Miss Mildred Doran, the 22 year-old Flint, Mich., school teacher, who was a passanger on the plane named for her, piloted by Auggy Pedlar, navigated by Vilas Knope. Others missing are Pilot Jack Frost and Navigator Gordon Scott of the Hearst monoplane "Golden Eagle."

Despite the apparent futility of the search, the navy will "carry on" until Thursday, it was announced today.

CHURCH RECTORY WRECKED BY BOMB

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Investigation was under way here today to determine the cause of an explosion which destroyed a side entrance and shattered window glass in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church at 2:15 this morning.

Police expressed the belief that a bomb had been placed at the entrance. Four priests and nine brothers of the order of Franciscan Monks were asleep in the building at the time of the explosion, but none was injured.

Carpenter Shop Damaged.

Fire, believed to have originated from defective wiring, broke out shortly after midnight in the carpenter shop of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad shops in Wellsville. The flames were extinguished with little damage.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—While new forward movements were in progress in a number of the motor, industrial and railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today, the market as a whole was irregular, with reactionary movements in the oils and specialties.

Heavy selling of some of the recent ground gainers accompanied reports that the "pools were getting out."

United States Steel and General Motors were pushed along to new high record prices. Steel common was widely acclaimed the new market leader as preparations were made for an important meeting of the finance committee of the corporation this afternoon.

Easy money, pool and professional operations and the market's technical position overshadowed general business conditions and industrial reports as factors having any bearing on the market today.

Shorts in the high priced specialties were reported to have been severely punished, yet persistently selling stocks on anticipation of a "break." Bullish pools, on the other hand, are giving the strongest support to their speculative favorites, and in most cases they have come off victorious.

Interest shifted today to a larger number of the standard railroad stocks, with Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Atchison, Great Northern, Pennsylvania and New York Central leading a moderate advance. Revival of the "merger talk" and trunk-line systems stimulated some buying of the so-called speculative railroad shares at a slight advance in prices.

No definite lowering of the call money rate was yet in sight, though funds were freely advanced by the banking institutions, which look for a continuance of easier money conditions; cotton market was slightly reactionary at the start, as the result of profit taking, Southern Liquidation and lower Liverpool Cables. Grain markets were steady, with narrow price changes.

A 10-cent cut in Pennsylvania Crude Oil prices was reflected in an irregular market for the oil stocks. Pan American touched a new low for the year at 52¾, down about 4 points from yesterday, while Atlantic Refining slid off a point.

American Can, Pressed Steel Car, Barnet Leather, United States Realty, and other Monday's star performers carried their market values up the scale a point or two, while Yellow Truck, Remington Rand and Brown Boveri settled down to a lower range.

Long Fight Ends

claimed his innocence while seated in the chair and was pronouncing his forgiveness of his enemies when the guards stepped back and signalled for the fatal current.

"I am innocent of all crime,' said Vanzetti, without attempting theatrical gestures. "Not only of this one, but all."

He spoke simply, in a quiet voice, as if he had said:

"I am tired." He lay back quietly and waited for death.

Not so Sacco. Younger more volatile and impetuous, his first cry upon entering the death chamber was, "long live anarchy" and his last "farewell, my mother."

Preceding them to the chair was Celestino Madeiros, a Portuguese bank bandit, who killed a cashier in Wrentham while in the act of holding up the place. Oddly enough, Madeiros had confessed to the same murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti were executed and his confession exonerated the two radicals. But the law of Massachusetts refused to believe him.

Madeiros Indifferent.

Phlegmatic and sullen, seemingly indifferent to his fate, Madeiros had eaten everything that came his way during his long stay in the death house. He had eaten and slept the long days and nights away. He even had to be awakened three hours before his execution to be informed that this was his last night on earth, and having heard it, he turned over and was asleep again in five minutes. He marched stolidly to the chair and died without a murmur. Nobody rioted or tossed bombs in his behalf.

The scene at Charlestown prison probably was without parallel in American criminology. Eight hundred police and state police, armed with riot guns, riot clubs and .45 automatics, encircled the old prison in a ring of steel.

Backing them up were machine guns mounted atop the walls. Powerful searchlights sprayed the adjacent streets to seek out possible trouble. For four blocks around the prison the streets were roped off, and nobody was permitted to enter without a pass signed by Warden Wm. Hendry or by a police permit.

Just off the main gate a temporary press room had been established with special wires leading to many cities, and in this restricted space three score perspiring reporters and telegraphers labored to inform the world as to how Sacco and Vanzetti died. The flash of their successive deaths was bulletined in London, Paris and other world capitals almost as soon as it was in New York and Chicago.

Governor Adamant.

Several miles away, in a closely guarded office on the third floor of the capital, sat Governor Alvan T. Fuller, whose official duties for more than a month past have been largely confined to this world-famous case. Grim-faced and resolute, the governor remained at his desk until thirteen minutes past midnight. At that hour Madeiros was dead and Sacco was on his last short march to earthly oblivion.

Governor Fuller heard all last minute pleas for respite from relatives of the condemned men, from their attorneys and their friends and to them all he was courteous and adamant.

Governor Fuller's friends said that the reason he remained at his desk was that he would not have it said he "ran away" from any last minute appeals. Some said, too, that the governor anticipated possible personal reprisals from sympathizers with the executed men, and if it came he preferred to meet it where his wife and children would not be subjected to danger. But the trouble failed to materialize. The city was policed down to the last alley, and when the governor left, heavily guarded, he motored to his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H.

The battle to save the two Italians continued right up to the foot of the chair itself. Throughout the day frantic appeals were made to this judge and that judge for stays, but all in vain, not a single staying authority was overlooked by the array of lawyers that fought to save sacco and Vanzetti. Air plane, motor speed boats and fast automobiles were used to circumvent time and distance, but all proved unavailing.

All Pleas in Vain.

Only an hour before the executions, final dramatic pleas were made by Mrs. Sacco and Miss Vanzetti to Governor Fuller for mercy. Half an hour before the march to the death chamber began, Attorney Michael A. Musmanno made an ardent plea to the same authority. One minute before midnight, Francis Fisher Kane, another of their attorneys, emerged from the governor's office unsuccessful. Before Kane left the capitol, Madeiros was in the chair.

Beside himself with grief, Musmanno rushed to the prison and demanded a final interview with the prisoners. Warden Hendry told him it was too late. Musmanno pleaded.

"Tell me," said the warden, "and I will carry the message to them."

"I want to tell them," said the little attorney passionately, "that there is more mercy in their hearts than in the hearts of many who profess the orthodox religion."

"I want to tell them I know of their innocence and all the electric chairs and gallows in the world cannot change that knowledge. I want to tell them they are the two kindliest and tenderest men I ever knew, that they have loved their brother men with a sincerity that has always been apparent.

He would have said more, but the warden stopped him. It was no use. The hour was too close at hand.

Priest Remains With Men.

It was about this time that the Rev. Father Murphy, the rotund Catholic chaplain of the prison, gave up the ghost. For months he has labored with the three men, striving to return them to the faith of their fathers and of their childhood. But they would have none of it. He paid three visits to the men during the day, advising them of the church's willingness to sponsor them into what lay beyond the chair. Each time he met the same indifference. They went out as they had lived—beyond the pale of the church.

Even though the bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti lay stiff and stark on the marble slabs of the Northern mortuary today, the Boston police force was not demobilized. If anything, it was more alert.

Plans are afoot for a gigantic march "in memoriam" through the streets of Boston by sympathizers with the dead men. And there are always the rumors of reprisals. Not for several days at least will the vigilance of Boston's police be relaxed in the slightest.

Takes Vanzetti's Body to Italy.

In a few days, Luigia Vanzetti, elderly sister of Bartolomeo, will place his body aboard an Italian boat and accompany it back to the homeland for interment in his native soil. Her week in America has been a tragic one. She arrived, bewildered and alone. A week ago, unfamiliar with the language or the law of the country that has taken her brother's life.

Sacco's body will be buried near Boston.

Today several Boston papers printed editorials urging thatt he city "get back to normalcy."

Bodies To Lie in State.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—All that is mortal of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will lie in state in Boston, New York, Chicago, and several other large cities of the country, according to an ambitious plan drawn up for execution today by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee.

Embalmed for long preservation as was that of Lenine, the bodies will rest in diamond studded caskets for their journey.

Later they will be carried by steamship to their native land—Italy.

41 PARALYSIS CASES REPORTED

Total Number of Victims Now 141, Figures Show.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Infantile paralysis cases in Ohio today numbered 141, it was reported here by the state department of health, following the receipts of weekly reports from the various county and city boards of health in the state. This is an increase of 41 cases over the report of Monday, but represents cases not before reported during the past week, Dr. John E. Monger, chief of the department of health pointed out.

Of the communities reporting today, and not previously included in the districts where the disease has been noted, Cleveland showed the heaviest prevalence with 12 cases.

If the increase continues, health officials declared, some action will be taken in regard to the postponement of school opening, generally held the first Monday in September. It is believed that some action will be required, at least in those communities where the disease has been reported and where children are forbidden to visit places of public gathering.

BUS LINE ASKS FOR REHEARING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Challenging the right of the state utilities commission to revoke its license to operate, the Warren-Salem Coach Line company today asked the commission to grant a rehearing. The commission recently revoked the certificate which authorized the company to operate between Warren and Salem and between Ellsworth and Deerfield.

The revocation was based, in part, upon the claim that the concern incorrectly represented, at the time its certificate was issued, that it was operating as a corporation April 28, 1927, when the Freeman-Collister act, regulating operation of motor vehicles, became effective the commission held that the company was not incorporated until a later date.

DONAHEY IS CONVALESCING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Absence of definite information today concerning the condition of Governor Donahey, ill with summer grippe at his summer cottage, Indian Lake, was interpreted by officials at the governor's office as indicating that his condition was "satisfactory." Donahey's condition was not series, it was stated.

GARY'S GIFTS ARE $2,000,000

Steel Wizard's Will Filed for Probate in New York.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The will of the late Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, was filed here today. There was nothing in the document or the accompanying petition to indicate the value of the estate, although specific bequests totaled more than $2,000,000.

The petition said the will disposed of personal property valued at more than $10,000 and real property valued at more than $10,000.

The will was filed for probate in the office of Surrogate Leone D. Howell of Nassau county, by Attorney Kenneth T. Halstead of New York city.

TWO JUDGMENTS IN MUNY COURT

Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in the amount of $175 in the case of Lester E. Wright against Roy J. Gilliland, J. E. Gilliland and Rosa Gilliland.

Suit of the Central Acceptance company against Ella and Clark Bradfield resulted in a verdict being returned for the defendants.

Both cases were heard before Judge Jesse C. Hanley in municipal court.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Authorities Believe Salt to Have Contained Poisonous Substances.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—County officials here today were investigating the death of Mrs. Fred W. Sweeney, 41, who died at her home 12 miles north of this city, apparently of poisoning.

The husband, Fred Sweeney, told the county prosecutor and the sheriff who went to the scene, that he and his wife were both made violently ill a few minutes after they had eaten breakfast this morning and the woman died before medical aid could be summoned.

Sweeney was made violently ill. The officials brought a package of salt, suspected of containing some poison substance, from the Sweeney home here for analysis, and an autospy will be performed in an effort to determine the cause of the woman's death. The couple have seven children.

KENT TRUSTEES TO AIR CHARGES

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Trustees of Kent State Normal college were to reconvene here at 11 a. m. today, to consider charges of mismanagement against Dr. David L. Anderson, president of the school.

Despite statements from board members that a meeting here Monday was purely routine, it was learned that the trustees before adjournment, late yesterday, had heard at least 100 charges filed by the college alumni, against Anderson, which apply to every phase of his administration. Most important among them were charges that Anderson had failed to preserve peace in the faculty and that he was extremely "dictatorial."

Although board members here denied that Anderson was to be ousted, press dispatches from Columbus Monday stated that friends of the Kent president were urging Governor Donahey to request the trustees to retain him.

Anderson has held office one year. During that period he has dismissed over a score of the faculty.

CHAPLIN'S WIFE AND CHILDREN GET $825,000 IN CASH

DIVORCE DECREE GRANTED AFTER SETTLEMENT OF MONEY MATTERS

$200,000 Trust Fund for Comedian's Two Children.

COSTS RUNS HIGH

Work on Chaplin Picture "Circus" to be Resumed.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—The big studio tent of "The Circus," Charlie Chaplin's unfinished picture, was hoisted and staked out again today as the comedian, now a free man, prepared to resume his acting after an eight months' layoff. Lita Gray Chaplin received an interlocutory decree of divorce from Chaplin yesterday. The comedian settled $825,000 upon her and her two small sons in a property settlement reached out of court.

A trust fund of $200,000 for Sydney Earle, 16-month, and Charles Spencer, Jr., 26 months, was included in the settlement. Mrs. Chaplin will have the babies custody and will administer the trust fund on their behalf.

Although Chaplin himself was expected to go today to Catalina Island for a short rest, other members of the cast of the "Circus" were ordered to take up work at once on the unfinished comedy. Chaplin and his supporting players, including Merna Kennedy, leading lady, stopped work on the picture when his wife sued for divorce eight months ago.

"The Circus" must be turned over to United Artists for Christmas release, Alfred Reeves, manager of the Chaplin studios, declared, and nothing will be permitted to delay it further.

With the general terms of the property settlement upon Lita Gray Chaplin made public, speculation centered today upon details of the huge award. According to reports considered trustworthy, Mrs. Chaplin will receive $375,000 in cash. The remaining $250,000 will be paid over a three-year period, it was said, with 4 per cent interest accruing upon the deferred payments. The trust fund will be established within five years, it was reported. Until that time Chaplin will pay $1,000 a month for the care of the children.

In all, the divorce action is expected to cost the comedian well over a million dollars, including such intangible losses as lost earning power during the past eight months. Not considering the loss of earning power or his own attorney's fees, it was reported that Chaplin will pay approximately $950,000 for his freedom.

machines land on roofs, and are lowered, for parking, in cellars a mile deep.

Paris dressers, realizing that long hair is "coming in," are buying stocks of "transformations," long hair while waiting for bobbed hair to grow.

Short hair is common sense, of course, and, in time, long hair will be as obsolete as a vein over the face.

Long after men had cut their hair, primitive women let their hair grow long, because, matted with grease, it was a good thing in cold weather.

Long hair seems "feminine" to men. Women do what men want, and the long hair comes back. It will go away again.

Uncle Sam owes $18,000,000,000 in bonds outstanding. The bonded indebtedness of all the States totals $1,846,000,000. Borrowing by the States, stimulated perhaps, by those willing to pay a high price for bonds free of national income tax, has been criticized. But State debts are small, considering the wealth of the nation.

Florida, Nebraska and Wisconsin have no State debt. South Dakota has the highest per capita, $85.15. New York State owes the most and can afford to. Central Park in New York City is worth more than the whole State debt.

Half the money borrowed by the States has been spent on good roads, a fact that justifies the borrowing. If it could be said that the other half had been spent on public schools the situation would be perfect, and it wouldn't matter if the States owed a billion apiece.

The Carnegie Foundation has spent years and money most usefully to promote care of the teeth and proper education of dentists. In many cases the poor pay more than the rich for inferior dental work. The number of really good dentists is totally inadequate. Ninety per cent of children at least have their teeth neglected. Neglected teeth prevent perfect digestion and a good blood supply. Infected teeth kill millions through heart disease and other troubles.

Navy Orders Cruiser

all but vanished with the coming of dawn today—one week after the ill-fated "Golden Eagle" and "Miss Doran" hopped off on their disastrous attempt to reach Honolulu.

Capt. Erwin and navigator Eichwaldt, aboard the "mercy" plane, "Dallas Spirit" have been missing since Friday.

Not a single authentic clew as to the fate of the three planes and their seven occupants has been found, despite the fact that innumerable naval vessels, planes and fishing smacks have searched every mile of the great circle course between here and Hawaii.

Reluctantly friends of the missing fliers are resigning themselves to what seems the inevitable. Sympathy centers on Miss Mildred Doran, the 22 year-old Flint, Mich., school teacher, who was a passanger on the plane named for her, piloted by Auggy Pedlar, navigated by Vilas Knope. Others missing are Pilot Jack Frost and Navigator Gordon Scott of the Hearst monoplane "Golden Eagle."

Despite the apparent futility of the search, the navy will "carry on" until Thursday, it was announced today.

CHURCH RECTORY WRECKED BY BOMB

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Investigation was under way here today to determine the cause of an explosion which destroyed a side entrance and shattered window glass in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church at 2:15 this morning.

Police expressed the belief that a bomb had been placed at the entrance. Four priests and nine brothers of the order of Franciscan Monks were asleep in the building at the time of the explosion, but none was injured.

Carpenter Shop Damaged.

Fire, believed to have originated from defective wiring, broke out shortly after midnight in the carpenter shop of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad shops in Wellsville. The flames were extinguished with little damage.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—While new forward movements were in progress in a number of the motor, industrial and railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today, the market as a whole was irregular, with reactionary movements in the oils and specialties.

Heavy selling of some of the recent ground gainers accompanied reports that the "pools were getting out."

United States Steel and General Motors were pushed along to new high record prices. Steel common was widely acclaimed the new market leader as preparations were made for an important meeting of the finance committee of the corporation this afternoon.

Easy money, pool and professional operations and the market's technical position overshadowed general business conditions and industrial reports as factors having any bearing on the market today.

Shorts in the high priced specialties were reported to have been severely punished, yet persistently selling stocks on anticipation of a "break." Bullish pools, on the other hand, are giving the strongest support to their speculative favorites, and in most cases they have come off victorious.

Interest shifted today to a larger number of the standard railroad stocks, with Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Atchison, Great Northern, Pennsylvania and New York Central leading a moderate advance. Revival of the "merger talk" and trunk-line systems stimulated some buying of the so-called speculative railroad shares at a slight advance in prices.

No definite lowering of the call money rate was yet in sight, though funds were freely advanced by the banking institutions, which look for a continuance of easier money conditions; cotton market was slightly reactionary at the start, as the result of profit taking, Southern Liquidation and lower Liverpool Cables. Grain markets were steady, with narrow price changes.

A 10-cent cut in Pennsylvania Crude Oil prices was reflected in an irregular market for the oil stocks. Pan American touched a new low for the year at 52¾, down about 4 points from yesterday, while Atlantic Refining slid off a point.

American Can, Pressed Steel Car, Barnet Leather, United States Realty, and other Monday's star performers carried their market values up the scale a point or two, while Yellow Truck, Remington Rand and Brown Boveri settled down to a lower range.

Long Fight Ends

claimed his innocence while seated in the chair and was pronouncing his forgiveness of his enemies when the guards stepped back and signalled for the fatal current.

"I am innocent of all crime,' said Vanzetti, without attempting theatrical gestures. "Not only of this one, but all."

He spoke simply, in a quiet voice, as if he had said:

"I am tired." He lay back quietly and waited for death.

Not so Sacco. Younger more volatile and impetuous, his first cry upon entering the death chamber was, "long live anarchy" and his last "farewell, my mother."

Preceding them to the chair was Celestino Madeiros, a Portuguese bank bandit, who killed a cashier in Wrentham while in the act of holding up the place. Oddly enough, Madeiros had confessed to the same murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti were executed and his confession exonerated the two radicals. But the law of Massachusetts refused to believe him.

Madeiros Indifferent.

Phlegmatic and sullen, seemingly indifferent to his fate, Madeiros had eaten everything that came his way during his long stay in the death house. He had eaten and slept the long days and nights away. He even had to be awakened three hours before his execution to be informed that this was his last night on earth, and having heard it, he turned over and was asleep again in five minutes. He marched stolidly to the chair and died without a murmur. Nobody rioted or tossed bombs in his behalf.

The scene at Charlestown prison probably was without parallel in American criminology. Eight hundred police and state police, armed with riot guns, riot clubs and .45 automatics, encircled the old prison in a ring of steel.

Backing them up were machine guns mounted atop the walls. Powerful searchlights sprayed the adjacent streets to seek out possible trouble. For four blocks around the prison the streets were roped off, and nobody was permitted to enter without a pass signed by Warden Wm. Hendry or by a police permit.

Just off the main gate a temporary press room had been established with special wires leading to many cities, and in this restricted space three score perspiring reporters and telegraphers labored to inform the world as to how Sacco and Vanzetti died. The flash of their successive deaths was bulletined in London, Paris and other world capitals almost as soon as it was in New York and Chicago.

Governor Adamant.

Several miles away, in a closely guarded office on the third floor of the capital, sat Governor Alvan T. Fuller, whose official duties for more than a month past have been largely confined to this world-famous case. Grim-faced and resolute, the governor remained at his desk until thirteen minutes past midnight. At that hour Madeiros was dead and Sacco was on his last short march to earthly oblivion.

Governor Fuller heard all last minute pleas for respite from relatives of the condemned men, from their attorneys and their friends and to them all he was courteous and adamant.

Governor Fuller's friends said that the reason he remained at his desk was that he would not have it said he "ran away" from any last minute appeals. Some said, too, that the governor anticipated possible personal reprisals from sympathizers with the executed men, and if it came he preferred to meet it where his wife and children would not be subjected to danger. But the trouble failed to materialize. The city was policed down to the last alley, and when the governor left, heavily guarded, he motored to his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H.

The battle to save the two Italians continued right up to the foot of the chair itself. Throughout the day frantic appeals were made to this judge and that judge for stays, but all in vain, not a single staying authority was overlooked by the array of lawyers that fought to save sacco and Vanzetti. Air plane, motor speed boats and fast automobiles were used to circumvent time and distance, but all proved unavailing.

All Pleas in Vain.

Only an hour before the executions, final dramatic pleas were made by Mrs. Sacco and Miss Vanzetti to Governor Fuller for mercy. Half an hour before the march to the death chamber began, Attorney Michael A. Musmanno made an ardent plea to the same authority. One minute before midnight, Francis Fisher Kane, another of their attorneys, emerged from the governor's office unsuccessful. Before Kane left the capitol, Madeiros was in the chair.

Beside himself with grief, Musmanno rushed to the prison and demanded a final interview with the prisoners. Warden Hendry told him it was too late. Musmanno pleaded.

"Tell me," said the warden, "and I will carry the message to them."

"I want to tell them," said the little attorney passionately, "that there is more mercy in their hearts than in the hearts of many who profess the orthodox religion."

"I want to tell them I know of their innocence and all the electric chairs and gallows in the world cannot change that knowledge. I want to tell them they are the two kindliest and tenderest men I ever knew, that they have loved their brother men with a sincerity that has always been apparent.

He would have said more, but the warden stopped him. It was no use. The hour was too close at hand.

Priest Remains With Men.

It was about this time that the Rev. Father Murphy, the rotund Catholic chaplain of the prison, gave up the ghost. For months he has labored with the three men, striving to return them to the faith of their fathers and of their childhood. But they would have none of it. He paid three visits to the men during the day, advising them of the church's willingness to sponsor them into what lay beyond the chair. Each time he met the same indifference. They went out as they had lived—beyond the pale of the church.

Even though the bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti lay stiff and stark on the marble slabs of the Northern mortuary today, the Boston police force was not demobilized. If anything, it was more alert.

Plans are afoot for a gigantic march "in memoriam" through the streets of Boston by sympathizers with the dead men. And there are always the rumors of reprisals. Not for several days at least will the vigilance of Boston's police be relaxed in the slightest.

Takes Vanzetti's Body to Italy.

In a few days, Luigia Vanzetti, elderly sister of Bartolomeo, will place his body aboard an Italian boat and accompany it back to the homeland for interment in his native soil. Her week in America has been a tragic one. She arrived, bewildered and alone. A week ago, unfamiliar with the language or the law of the country that has taken her brother's life.

Sacco's body will be buried near Boston.

Today several Boston papers printed editorials urging thatt he city "get back to normalcy."

Bodies To Lie in State.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—All that is mortal of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will lie in state in Boston, New York, Chicago, and several other large cities of the country, according to an ambitious plan drawn up for execution today by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee.

Embalmed for long preservation as was that of Lenine, the bodies will rest in diamond studded caskets for their journey.

Later they will be carried by steamship to their native land—Italy.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Infantile paralysis cases in Ohio today numbered 141, it was reported here by the state department of health, following the receipts of weekly reports from the various county and city boards of health in the state. This is an increase of 41 cases over the report of Monday, but represents cases not before reported during the past week, Dr. John E. Monger, chief of the department of health pointed out.

Of the communities reporting today, and not previously included in the districts where the disease has been noted, Cleveland showed the heaviest prevalence with 12 cases.

If the increase continues, health officials declared, some action will be taken in regard to the postponement of school opening, generally held the first Monday in September. It is believed that some action will be required, at least in those communities where the disease has been reported and where children are forbidden to visit places of public gathering.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Challenging the right of the state utilities commission to revoke its license to operate, the Warren-Salem Coach Line company today asked the commission to grant a rehearing. The commission recently revoked the certificate which authorized the company to operate between Warren and Salem and between Ellsworth and Deerfield.

The revocation was based, in part, upon the claim that the concern incorrectly represented, at the time its certificate was issued, that it was operating as a corporation April 28, 1927, when the Freeman-Collister act, regulating operation of motor vehicles, became effective the commission held that the company was not incorporated until a later date.

DONAHEY IS CONVALESCING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Absence of definite information today concerning the condition of Governor Donahey, ill with summer grippe at his summer cottage, Indian Lake, was interpreted by officials at the governor's office as indicating that his condition was "satisfactory." Donahey's condition was not series, it was stated.

GARY'S GIFTS ARE $2,000,000

Steel Wizard's Will Filed for Probate in New York.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The will of the late Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, was filed here today. There was nothing in the document or the accompanying petition to indicate the value of the estate, although specific bequests totaled more than $2,000,000.

The petition said the will disposed of personal property valued at more than $10,000 and real property valued at more than $10,000.

The will was filed for probate in the office of Surrogate Leone D. Howell of Nassau county, by Attorney Kenneth T. Halstead of New York city.

TWO JUDGMENTS IN MUNY COURT

Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in the amount of $175 in the case of Lester E. Wright against Roy J. Gilliland, J. E. Gilliland and Rosa Gilliland.

Suit of the Central Acceptance company against Ella and Clark Bradfield resulted in a verdict being returned for the defendants.

Both cases were heard before Judge Jesse C. Hanley in municipal court.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Authorities Believe Salt to Have Contained Poisonous Substances.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—County officials here today were investigating the death of Mrs. Fred W. Sweeney, 41, who died at her home 12 miles north of this city, apparently of poisoning.

The husband, Fred Sweeney, told the county prosecutor and the sheriff who went to the scene, that he and his wife were both made violently ill a few minutes after they had eaten breakfast this morning and the woman died before medical aid could be summoned.

Sweeney was made violently ill. The officials brought a package of salt, suspected of containing some poison substance, from the Sweeney home here for analysis, and an autopsy will be performed in an effort to determine the cause of the woman's death. The couple have seven children.

KENT TRUSTEES TO AIR CHARGES

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Trustees of Kent State Normal college were to reconvene here at 11 a. m. today, to consider charges of mismanagement against Dr. David L. Anderson, president of the school.

Despite statements from board members that a meeting here Monday was purely routine, it was learned that the trustees before adjournment, late yesterday, had heard at least 100 charges filed by the college alumni, against Anderson, which apply to every phase of his administration. Most important among them were charges that Anderson had failed to preserve peace in the faculty and that he was extremely "dictatorial."

Although board members here denied that Anderson was to be ousted, press dispatches from Columbus Monday stated that friends of the Kent president were urging Governor Donahey to request the trustees to retain him.

Anderson has held office one year. During that period he has dismissed over a score of the faculty.

CIGAR FACTORY SHOWN IN FILM

Jewish-Irish Comedy Drama at Strand Theatre.

With complete realism his aim in "Pleasure Before Business," the clever Columbia Jewish-Irish comedy-drama now showing at the Strand theatre, Director Frank R. Strayer had a cigar factory in its entirety moved from the business district in Los Angeles and re-erected on one of the stages at the Columbia Studios. In addition to the factory itself he had expert cigar makers at work; for during the sequence, the factory owner, played by Max Davidson, is required to make some cigars himself. During the filming of the picture some 700 cigars were made and rolled by the workers.

Icluded in the cast of this parkling feature, which was well selected with the special aptitude of the player for his part in mind, are Virginia Browne Faire, as Davidson's daughter, Pat O'Malley as a young Irish doctor in love with her, Rosa Rosanova as the sympathetic Jewish mother, Lester Bernard, Henri Menjou, Jack Raymond, Tom McQuire and Charles Meakin.

Cords And Laughlin Battle For League Supremacy Tonight

CRANDALL, GRIMM GO TO MOUND

Clash May Decide Last Half Pennant Race.

By F. J. W.

CITY INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE baseball fans fortunate enough to be able to wedge themselves into Smith Field tonight may see the contest that determines the local circuit's second half supremacy when Frank Riley's Superior Cords, battling for the honors and a place in the final series, clashes with Pearl Dailey's Laughlinites, the first half champions, who are doing their darndest to make a clean sweep over the entire season.

One of the biggest crowds of the whole campaign is expected to scramble for ringside seats when the two West Virginia rivals, who have had a strangle hold on Industrial league championships ever since the loop started, scrap in the style to which they have become accustomed.

And that means no quarter asked, none given, and the fight goes on until the last man is out.

Southpaw Crandall, who tamed the Newell nine recently at Newell, allowing the Dailey outfit one single hit, will try his luck again and Manager "Punk" Riley is confident that the big hurler will go the route successfully.

Pilot Dailey, in all likelihood, will assign Harry Grimm, the former Mid-Atlantic pitcher, to duty on the rubber and feels certain that he'll repeat his winning performance on the occasion of his first start in local loop ranks.

It was thought perhaps that Ashe might be held in reserve for this game, but Ashe pitched five innings against K. T. K. last night, relieving Digman, and it's not probable that he'll be called back for more work tonight.

A victory will put the Laughlin team in the lead.

FANS FIGHT FOR DUCATS TO BIG BOUT

$30,000 Worth of Tickets Sold First Few Hours.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Two scenes, incidental to the impending Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight title match, hummed with activity here today.

One was Lincoln field's racing plant where Jack Dempsey, the well-known vacuum hull, is training for his supreme moment of September 22 when he hopes to regain his heavyweight crown from Campion Gene Tunney.

The other—the downtown ticket office of Tex Rickard where normally sane individuals are literally fighting for the privilege of investing $5 to $40 in pasteboard ducats that will entitle them to glimpse the epochal proceedings.

More than $30,000 worth of tickets were sold within a few hours yesterday after the box office was opened to the general public. The cheaper tickets were in greatest demand, but a liberal number of the $40 issue were shoved through the cage.

This was Dempsey's second day in camp. He did no work yesterday, just roamed over the premises with Leo Flynn, his manager and gave the layout his official okay. He will get in some roadwork on the track today and perhaps do some shadow boxing

It was a tough one to lose for Pitcher Cole who set the Trucks down with two hits.

Gene Goes Easy

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Following a day of comparative rest, Gene Tunney got back to work today in preparation for his bout with Jack Dempsey in Chicago next month.

"Rest a day and then work," is the policy of the heavyweight champion at present. He believes that daily workouts would bring him to the peak of condition too soon. Yesterday he contented himself with a road run. Then he rowed on the lake.

TURK NASH WINS AT WELLSVILLE

Turk Nash stayed out of the cellar position in the City Industrial league race by winning from the Wellsville Nash Motors last night at Nicholson Field, the final count being 10 to 1.

The victory ended the long losing streak of the locals.

The Turk Nash club is scheduled to play the K. T. K. nine on Thursday evening at Patterson Field in a postponed game play-off.

2 YOUTHS LEAD FIELD IN AMATEUR

Jones, Ouimet, Evans Finish With 75's.

By Thomas J. Walsh.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—"I only ask one thing of these sharpshooters. Let them lay off that 72 of mine. They can have the rest of the tournament. They know what it is to be famous, I don't. All I ask is my little taste of fame over night. After that, I can pass on out without a regret."

That was 19-year-old Phillips Finlay, yesterday. Just a boy with a typical boy's prayer for the thing that he wanted most. So he stood just off the eighteenth green and silently exhorted each incoming golfer to leave, untouched and inviolate his leadership of the first day's qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship.

Wherefore, he hung breathless by his mental finger nails over the great abyss, fear, as he watched Chick Evans, Watts Gunn, Rudy Knepper, Maurice McCarthy, Max Marston, and other good ones come home, distanced, and when, suddenly, fate snatched the prize from him, it came from a quarter least expected. Fate's instrument happened to be Finlay's very good friend.

But today, neither Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N. J., with a 72, nor Phillips Finlay, Shinnecock Hills, Conn., with a 72 have the slightest quarrel with fate, for they were leading Bobby Jones, George Von Elm, and one of the finest fields ever assembled into the final days of a championship qualifying round.

Next at 75, came the great Bobby himself, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Guy Standifer, Jack Mackie and Raymond Daly. The last three mentioned have done their 75's before but seldom in a national championship.

All of those mentioned would have to be somewhat terrible today to miss qualifying and, in a slightly less degree that applied also to Dick Jones, Dexter Cummings, Harry Legg, Roland Mackenzie, Arthur Yates, Densmore Shute and Ellsworth Augustus. They were clustered about a composite 76.

Therefore, if these gents must find it hard to miss, what of the rest?

There remained only eleven places for them to complete the 32 survivors, with more than a mere possibility that in the gloaming, darling, we may have one of those highly diverting plays-off, for the last few men to get under the wire.

AT HOLYOKE, Mass.—Pete Zivic, Pittsburgh, lightweight, defeated Tony Carney, of New Bedford, Mass. (10).

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM K. T. K., 4-2

BUNCHING four hits and a sacrifice fly in the fourth period, Laughlin came from behind, tied and went beyond K. T. K. on Newell field last evening and won by the standing thus existing, 4 to 2, since neither side scored thereafter.

After retiring the first man up in the first and second Laughlin, with Digman pitching, permitted a run in both these swatting intervals by K. T. K.

Digman gave way to Ashe in the third. The latter retired his opponents without scoring during his hilltop incumbency.

W. O'Brosky, with one run lead, did not allow a single hit until the fourth. The stealing of two bases successively and a throwing error by Hunselman cost the club its first run.

C. Howell, erstwhile Victory Motor twirler, finished the last two innings for K. T. K. He walked two in the fifth and got out of a bad hole by a fast double play behind him. Herbert singled safely off him in the sixth when he retired Lang, Bubin and Sayers in a row.

W. Watson's all in the second as he chaed A. O'Brosky's triple caused his retirement or the day. Lang succeeded him.

After Ashe's entry, K. T. K. had no chance except in the sixth when with two men gone Finley's error and Fisher's safe hit to right put on the tying runs. But they languished on the bags as C. Coleman flew to Bubin.

Simcox in his five innings fanned eight men.

The fielding flash of the game was made by Webber, who by a long scud captured Simcox's fly in left territory in the sixth.

W. Watson's single catch of the game, a fly off C. Coleman's bat in far left was also a pretty piece of work.

Herbert, with two singles in three batting efforts, led all batters for the day.

Cords And Laughlin Battle For League Supremacy Tonight

CRANDALL, GRIMM GO TO MOUND

Clash May Decide Last Half Pennant Race.

By F. J. W.

CITY INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE baseball fans fortunate enough to be able to wedge themselves into Smith Field tonight may see the contest that determines the local circuit's second half supremacy when Frank Riley's Superior Cords, battling for the honors and a place in the final series, clashes with Pearl Dailey's Laughlinites, the first half champions, who are doing their darndest to make a clean sweep over the entire season.

One of the biggest crowds of the whole campaign is expected to scramble for ringside seats when the two West Virginia rivals, who have had a strangle hold on Industrial league championships ever since the loop started, scrap in the style to which they have become accustomed.

And that means no quarter asked, none given, and the fight goes on until the last man is out.

Southpaw Crandall, who tamed the Newell nine recently at Newell, allowing the Dailey outfit one single hit, will try his luck again and Manager "Punk" Riley is confident that the big hurler will go the route successfully.

Pilot Dailey, in all likelihood, will assign Harry Grimm, the former Mid Atlantic pitcher, to duty on the rubber and feels certain that he'll repeat his winning performance on the occasion of his first start in local loop ranks.

It was thought perhaps that Ashe might be held in reserve for this game, but Ashe pitched five innings against K. T. K. last night, relieving Digman, and it's not probable that he'll be called back for more work tonight.

A victory will put the Laughlin team in the lead.

SHOCKER IS HURT

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23. — Urban Shocker probably will be lost to the New York Yankees for several weeks, it was learned today. A line drive off Joe Sewell's bat broke a finger on the veteran spitball pitcher's left hand.

AT JERSEY CITY, N. J.—Johnny Leonard, Allentown, Penna., lightweight, won newspaper decision over Dickie Dixon, of Union City, N. J. (12).

FANS FIGHT FOR DUCATS TO BIG BOUT

$30,000 Worth of Tickets Sold First Few Hours.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Two scenes, incidental to the impending Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight title match, hummed with activity here today.

One was Lincoln field's racing plant where Jack Dempsey, the well-known vacuum hull, is training for his supreme moment of September 22 when he hopes to regain his heavyweight crown from Campion Gene Tunney.

The other—the downtown ticket office of Tex Rickard where normally sane individuals are literally fighting for the privilege of investing $5 to $40 in pasteboard ducats that will entitle them to glimpse the epochal proceedings.

More than $30,000 worth of tickets were sold within a few hours yesterday after the box office was opened to the general public. The cheaper tickets were in greatest demand, but a liberal number of the $40 issue were shoved through the cage.

This was Dempsey's second day in camp. He did no work yesterday, just roamed over the premises with Leo Flynn, his manager and gave the layout his official okay. He will get in some roadwork on the track today and perhaps do some shadow boxing

"It will be, I have no doubt, a source of gratification to you to know that Chesterfield cigarettes were on sale and, at that, the leading American seller, in all parts of the world.

"We started our trip on December 2nd, and visited among other points—Madeira Island... Gibraltar... Monte Carlo... Algiers... Haifa... Jerusalem... Cairo... Naples... Suez... Bombay... Java... ROTARY HEARS NOTED LECTURER

Dr. Ray Petty Speaks at Regular Noon-day Meeting.

"Don't be a Jack Horner."

This was the tip given Rotarians today at their noon luncheon meeting by Dr. Ray Petty, noted Redpath chautauqua speaker, pastor of the Philadelphia Baptist Temple, and formerly of Judson Memorial Temple, New York city.

Approximately 40 attended the meeting. Francis Wehner was chairman, introducing first Albert Manton, of this city, a member of the Ohio Wesleyan college glee club, who told of his trip with the glee club through European countries, giving an interesting description of many of the places the organization visited.

Dr. Petty, whose talk concluded the luncheon meeting, asked Rotarians not to be a Jack Horner, who, he pointed out, "stuck in his thumb, pulled out a plumb and said what a bright boy am I."

Those people, said Dr. Petty, who are off in the corner somewhere, eating the pie, pulling out the plums, the thrills of life, forget to credit the person who baked the pie. This, he explained, is true in every walk of life, and is stressed particularly in the industrial world where oftentimes, the fellow in overalls who "bakes the pie" seldom helps to eat it.

Dr. Petty predicted that within 10 years or so there must come some readjustment, where those that are suffering and wanting can get a little more and those who have plenty must take a little less.

Work is Progressing On Construction of Lancha Plana Dam

VALLEY SPRINGS, Cal.—Workmen are assembling and materials are being dumped in vast heaps on the site of the Lancha Plana dam, the largest dam in the world. The massive concrete wall, when completed, will surpass the famous Arrowrock dam near Pocatello, Ida., which hitherto has held the honor of being the world's biggest water barrier.

The dam will be a part of the water system of Oakland, Berkeley, and other cities on the eastern bank of San Francisco Bay. Arthur Davis, chief engineer of the East Bay municipal utility district, who built the Arrowrock dam and a hundred other dams, is in charge of building the Lancha Plana reservoir.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO.—The new electric chair was officially installed in Cook county jail here in place of the cumbersome gallows.

Prisoners were paraded before the gruesome device as an object lesson. Electrocution replaces hanging in Illinois under a recent law passed in Springfield.

The death machine painted black, was constructed in the shops of the Indiana State penitentiary at Michigan City by Albert Clark, superintendent of shops.

The chair is fashioned of heavy oak with arms and legs of galvanized iron. Heavy straps are passed about the body of the condemned man and an adjustable rubber cushion is pushed forward against the head to make it rigid against the shock.

Electrodes are applied to shaved portions of the head and calves of the leg. Twenty-three hundred volts are released by current leased from a public service company as the jail is not furnished with its own generating plant. Death should occurr normally within fourteen seconds.

The parade will be held on Thursday morning and there will be a Bathing Beauty Pageant that afternoon at four o'clock at the Coliseum at Cedar Point.

A Different and Better Washer

The New Gainaday Electric Washer

THE NEW GAINADAY cleans a "handful of little things" or a tubful in a few minutes. No tangling or pulling out of strings. No wear on most delicate garments.

The secret of the marvelous efficiency of this great washer is in the tub—the perfecting of which required two year's time and a cash investment of $100,000. The tub is all one piece, pressed from 33 oz. drawn copper, nickel-tinned inside—will not warp, rust or corrode.

As it rotates to left and to right it creates a wonderful water action—and there is not a loose edge or moving part inside to cause any wear on the clothes.

Mechanically the NEW GAINADAY is the simplest machine made.

The few moving parts are enclosed and you are no more conscious of its mechanism than of that in a phonograph. Positively nothing to break or get out of order.

Work is Progressing On Construction of Lancha Plana Dam

VALLEY SPRINGS, Cal.—Workmen are assembling and materials are being dumped in vast heaps on the site of the Lancha Plana dam, the largest dam in the world. The massive concrete wall, when completed, will surpass the famous Arrowrock dam near Pocatello, Ida., which hitherto has held the honor of being the world's biggest water barrier.

The dam will be a part of the water system of Oakland, Berkeley, and other cities on the eastern bank of San Francisco Bay. Arthur Davis, chief engineer of the East Bay municipal utility district, who built the Arrowrock dam and a hundred other dams, is in charge of building the Lancha Plana reservoir.

SYNOPSIS.

JOHN MOORE, New York business man, goes to Tucson, Ariz., on business, expecting to return to New York the next day. He meets a college associate, Philip Morton, who has business in Mexico. Both drink heavily of tequila and in the subsequent mixup in identity Moore finds himself in Mexico.

He has in his possession a portrait of a girl which had been Morton's. The girl, Ruth Henshaw, sends her ambassador, Ramon, to tell the supposed Morton that she will meet him at the church at Tubutama. She needs his help. He meets her, also Clench, an associate of her uncle's, and all go to the ranch, where John meets Manuel Lopez, Rodriguez and Barton Henshaw, the uncle. He learns that Morton's business with these men had to do with the secret importation of arms into Mexico.

Wong, Chinese cook, tells Moore to take Ruth away soon. John arranges with Ramon to have horses waiting to take them. Then Clench is murdered and Henshaw tries to fasten the murder on John.

John hears the sound of a motor, then Ruth's cry. He finds Wong lying beside the auto, stabbed to death. He goes to Ruth's room, holding Henshaw, Lopez and Roderiguez at the point of his gun, and directs her to come out.

CHAPTER THIRTY.

"Roderiguez, stand back from that door. Over by the fireplace, Manuel too. Now, Miss Henshaw, open the door."

The bolts grated back. Slowly the door swung open and Ruth Henshaw came into the room and stopped.

John Moore's gaze did not even swerve in her direction; it was fixed upon Henshaw and the men by the fireplace. "You are sure you are not hurt?" He demanded again.

"Yes."

Ruth Henshaw answered between shuddering breaths. "I—saw him—kill—Wong—"

"Ah!" exclaimed John Moore. And then he spoke again, more quietly but with equal authority. "Wong died to save you from these men, Miss Henshaw. He knew what they were. He warned me yesterday afternoon. He wanted me to take you away at once. I did not take his warning seriously enough. And he is dead. But before he died he crawled back to me—out there. And I promised him that I would take you away. You must rouse yourself and help me. Do you hear? Do you understand?"

"Yes," whispered the girl.

"I want a rope. Three ropes. Long ones. Do you know where there are any?"

"In the gate-house, across the courtyard. I—"

"No," said John quickly, with a vision of Wong. "Listen. There is a long coiled rope on the upper porch near the door of my room. You must take a lamp and go after it. You can do that."

"I will go," said the girl. She moved forward toward a lamp on the center table, but John's sharp command stopped her.

"No! Do not go between those men and me. I am taking no chances. Get another lamp somewhere."

Ruth turned back to the room behind her and returned almost at once wih a lighted lamp. She passed behind John and was gone.

Long minutes went by. John Moore endured them with a sick heart. But his eyes never wavered—nor his guns.

And then she was back again. "I have it," she told him.

"Good girl!" he said. "Now you must cut it into three lengths. I have a small knife in my pocket."

"There are hunting knives in this room."

"The girl came within his range of vision as she pulled open a drawer of a wall cabinet on the far side of the fireplace. She picked up a knife and went back to the rope she had placed on the floor behind John. He could not see her now.

But suddenly he heard her exclaim in a choked voice. "Oh!—Oh!"

John Moore broke in a cold sweat, but still he did not turn towards her. "What is it? Quick!"

"The knife!" gasped the girl, "I touched the blade. It is wet—and—my hand—Oh, my God!"

"Madre de Dios!" swore Roderiguez.

John Moore's tones had never been steadier than when he replied to the girl then. "Do what I tell you. Cut that rope. It is for Wong's sake, too, Miss Henshaw. Are you cutting it?"

"Yes," said Ruth, very low.

And then at last Barton Henshaw looked up again at John. He had struggled in vain to regain his mask. This time the acids of evil had etched too deep. He stared at John. "You cannot escape that knife, it seems. Who knows?" he said.

"I've done it, Mr. Moore," faltered Ruth.

"Fine for you! This will soon be over with, Miss Henshaw. Do you know how to make a slip noose?"

"Are you going—?"

"No, I'm not going to kill them unless I have to, but then I should without a scruple. Make a slip noose at the end of each rope."

After a pause: "I've done it."

"Manuel, step to one side—over there. No Miss Henshaw, slip a noose over his head and tighten it until it fits."

"His arm is bleeding."

"No matter. Pull his left hand down and back of him. Don't get back of him yourself. Give me a chance to take a shot at him if he resists you, see? Fasten the rope to his left arm so that if he moves his arm he will strangle himself. Can you do it?"

"I've done it."

"All right. Now Roderiguez, step over there. If he moves jerk the rope, Miss Henshaw. Only his left hand. Yes, I know about the other one. You are sure they cannot move?"

"Yes."

"All right. I'll take the other rope. Spread it out for me. Come behind me and put it in my left hand. Take the gun from this hand and keep it trained on Manuel and Roderiguez. If they move, shoot. You will do as I tell you?"

"Yes."

The slip noose in his left hand, his gun in his right, John Moore approached Henshaw, threw the noose over his neck and tightened it. From Henshaw's eyes evil stared starkly. "I ought to kill you now," said John Moore.

"No, No!" cried the girl behind him. "There has been enough of killing."

"All right," said John. Then to Henshaw: "Turn around. You feel my gun at the base of your neck? Put your hands down behind you and cross the wrists. Now, Miss Henshaw, I'm sorry to ask you to help here but I can't afford to take chances. Tie this rope about these hands."

The girl tied them.

"Thanks." For the first time since she had entered the room he looked directly at her. Or rather at her clothes. She wore a long coat and a close fitting dark dress and a small hat with a veil about it.

"Where are your riding clothes? Upstairs?" he asked.

"In there," said Ruth, dully looking towards the bedroom behind her. "I'd packed a bag to take—"

"Put them on," directed John briefly. "And bring a warm coat. We have a long ride before us. Take your gun! Don't let it be out of your reach until we are safely away from here."

He carried the lamp to the threshold of the door and gave it to her as she passed him.

He himself went swiftly back to the three men. He tightened the ropes on their hands and then wound the long ends around and around their legs. Above Roderiguez's and Manuel's right elbows he fixed torniquets with two hunting knife handles thrust through pieces torn from their shirts.

"Now," he said, "you won't bleed to death. They may find you here before night. Lie down." He caught the shoulders of one mummy-like figure after another and eased them to a prone position upon the floor.

Only Henshaw spoke. "I'll get you, Morton," he said.

"You won't do much getting of anybody," retorted John drily. "They will 'get' you for double murder. And it may interest you to know that I am not Morton. I'm Moore. And I'm reporting your little scheme to Washington. I wonder if those papers—"

He sprang up and crossed to a big table desk which stood against the wall. Upon it lay the brown leather portfolio. "I'll take this," he said.

Henshaw began to swear.

"Cut it," ordered John sharply, "or I'll gag the three of you." Henshaw was silent.

Ruth Henshaw appeared again in the doorway. "I'm ready," she said.

John Moore's bitter anger stirred again as he looked at her. How white she was! How cold and still! As if the warm youth of her had been frozen over. And these men had done this! Why hadn't he killed them?

"Can't we go from here?" pleaded the girl despairingly.

The man's anger gave way to gentleness at her need of it. "We will go," he said quietly. "But I must do one more thing. If you will wait in the garden for me, I will bring Wong—inside the house."

"Let me go with you."

"All right."

In the garden the car lamps still burned like fantastic giant candles at Wong's head and the wind moaned fitfully.

John stooped and picked up the slight body.

Ruth waited for them at the kitchen door and John heard her sobbing breath as he bore his burden past her. "Lock the door," he said. "We are going up above." He heard the bolts shot home as he backed his way through the swinging door into the dining room, and an instant later Ruth followed, bringing the lamp.

On the long oak table lay Wong, the Chinaman. The man and the girl stood looking down at him, the table between them.

The man spoke slowly. "Last night I boasted that I would let nothing harm you. When the test came it was Wong who saved you. He would be glad of that, Miss Henshaw."

The girl did not speak.

Haskin's Letter

unhappy home life which sometimes results where marriage is contracted by people too young to understand its responsibilities is said to have been illustrated by many cases discovered in the course of the investigation.

It is also interesting to know that although 40 years have elapsed since Pennsylvania decided to keep children out of the almshouses, 93 children had been in almshouses in six of the seven counties during the year of the survey. This would seem to indicate that unfortunate children frequently do not enjoy the benefit of the laws that have been enacted in their behalf. In many communities there has been evidenced the idea that you can do anything with a dependent child except drown it, as you would an undesired or undesirable kitten or puppy.

In the matter of delinquency, the Pennsylvania study showed the boys' cases greatly outnumbered the girls. Offenses against property led the list of causes of bringing boys into court, which may be taken as evidence that boys are light-fingered, while waywardness and sex offenses were the major reasons for bringing girls into court, which might be taken as the foundation for the assumption that girls are light of morals. However, it is stated, circumstances in the individual cases are such as to preclude generalizations.

But a general impression conveyed by the report is that the unfortunate youngsters who are dependents or delinquents are out of luck, and all through no fault of their own. They do not seek their way into the world, their handicaps are usually to be attributed to their parents or to misfortunes which they could not possibly avert, and their deliquencies, in the long run, are those for which they can not be held primarily responsible.

The outstanding thought suggested is that every child born into the world is potentially an asset to society, to be conserved and developed as society deals with its more generally recognized assets.

Haskin's Letter

unhappy home life which sometimes results where marriage is contracted by people too young to understand its responsibilities is said to have been illustrated by many cases discovered in the course of the investigation.

It is also interesting to know that although 40 years have elapsed since Pennsylvania decided to keep children out of the almshouses, 93 children had been in almshouses in six of the seven counties during the year of the survey. This would seem to indicate that unfortunate children frequently do not enjoy the benefit of the laws that have been enacted in their behalf. In many communities there has been evidenced the idea that you can do anything with a dependent child except drown it, as you would an undesired or undesirable kitten or puppy.

In the matter of delinquency, the Pennsylvania study showed the boys' cases greatly outnumbered the girls. Offenses against property led the list of causes of bringing boys into court, which may be taken as evidence that boys are light-fingered, while waywardness and sex offenses were the major reasons for bringing girls into court, which might be taken as the foundation for the assumption that girls are light of morals. However, it is stated, circumstances in the individual cases are such as to preclude generalizations.

But a general impression conveyed by the report is that the unfortunate youngsters who are dependents or delinquents are out of luck, and all through no fault of their own. They do not seek their way into the world, their handicaps are usually to be attributed to their parents or to misfortunes which they could not possibly avert, and their deliquencies, in the long run, are those for which they can not be held primarily responsible.

The outstanding thought suggested is that every child born into the world is potentially an asset to society, to be conserved and developed as society deals with its more generally recognized assets.

POTATO CROP TO BE BUMPER HERE THIS YEAR

Experts Claim 410,714,000 Bushels Will be Produced.

PROSPECTS GOOD

Maine Will Lead all Other States in Crop.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—The potato crop in the United States for 1927 is estimated at 410,714,000 bushels, the New England Crop Reporting Service of the United States department of Agriculture reports. The government statisticians base their figures on farm conditions as of August 1.

The harvest of 1926 was 356,123,000 bushels which indicates increased production this year if the harvest yield according to the estimates. The average crop for the five year period from 1922 to 1926 was 394,135,000 bushels.

Prospective production gained 4.5 per cent during July and is now 15.3 per cent larger than the crop harvested last year and 4.2 per cent above the average production of the past five years.

About 20 per cent of the increase for the United States occur in Maine. Improvement was general throughout the country. Thirty-nine states, including all important states, show increases in potato prospects.

Substantial Increase.

The present prospect is for a substantial increase over the short crops of the last two years but in proportion to the population it would be hardly more than the average production of the past five years.

crop 7.0 per cent greater than last year's harvest and 9.6 per cent above average. Throughout northern New England conditions have been favorable and potatoe prospects improved materially during July. In southern New England conditions have been less favorable due to excessive rainy weather, aphis, blight and other insects and diseases. Yields of early potatoes in southern New England will be light in many localities.

The eight major late crop states gained 5.8 per cent in indicated production during the month of July and now expect a crop 12.1 per cent larger than last year but nearly equal to their average production. Prospects in the minor late surplus states gained 3.8 per cent during July and are 29.0 per cent above last year and 19.1 per cent above average. In the twenty late states the outlook is for a crop of 16.7 per cent greater than harvested in 1926 and 4.4 per cent more than the average of the past five years 1922-26.

New Jersey Prospects.

Movement from Virginia, where the early crop had made heavy yields, is nearly at an end. Prospects in New Jersey were for a crop 26 per cent greater than harvested last year but 3 per cent less than the average of 1922-26. Early potatoes in New Jersey, Long Island, and southern New England were already moving to market.

The production forecast on August 1 in the various potato raising states in bushels was: Main, 40,157,000; New Hampshire, 2,030,000; Vermont, 3,222,000; Massachusetts, 1,949,000; Rhode Island, 408,000; Connecticut, 1,871,000; New York, 31,752,000; New Jersey, 9,135,000; Pennsylvania, 26,071,000; Michigan, 31,262,000; Wisconsin, 28,948,000; Minnesota, 34,760,000; North Dakota, 10,441,000; Maryland, 4,860,000; Virginia, 17,606,000; Idaho, 21,976,000; Colorado, 14,336,000; Washington, 12,371,000.

BARRYMORE WAS NEWSPAPERMAN

Now Famous Actor Took to Stage at Age of 21.

John Barrymore, who is amazing and delighting motion picture fans in his appearance as Francois Villon in "The Beloved Rogue," now showing at the Ceramic theatre, has achieved a position of eminence in his profession that seems to have been indicated from birth.

For Barrymore, whose portrayal of the impulsive, whimsical Villon, poet and beggar and thief of fifteenth century Paris, is the best thing he has ever done for the screen, descends from an old American stage family. His father was Maurice Barrymore, well known actor, and his mother was a sister of the great John Drew. His brother, Lionel, is one of the present, most prominent actors on the American stage and the fame of his sister, Ethel, is international.

John Barrymore, strangely, did not follow immediately in the footsteps of his father. He began his career as a newspaper man, but on reaching the age of 21, went on the stage. Within ten years he was at the top, internationally famous. He crowned his achievements with a trip to London where, with his own company, he presented a group of Shakespearean performances in the famous Haymarket.

Returning to America, Barrymore plunged into motion pictures and one success followed another. His "Beau Brummel,' "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "The Lotus Eater" and "The Sea Beast" captured the public fancy in rapid order. And now comes "The Beloved Rogue," doubly interesting because it is not only his greatest screen triumph, but also marks his first production following affiliation with United Artist.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

IT IS TO KNOW.

Ohio bankers have been traveling around the state visiting farms and getting first-hand information on crops and live stock. They have been looking into the farmer's problems—finding out why he is often in debt. More bankers might well do the same thing. First hand information is probably one of the most important things in the world.

PLENTY OF CAPACITY.

A champion chess player plays 28 games at once, working at it 12 hours. He won 22 of them and at the end of the ordeal appeared as fresh as at the beginning. Freakish, somebody will say. But it shows the capacity of the human brain.

There is plenty of capacity. The thing is to have the industry and patience to bring it out.

IN AMERICA TOO.

A New York woman police officer says babies can sometimes be rented or bought in that city. She, herself, in search of evidence, bought a baby from a poverty-stricken mother for $25. She blames the ban against children in apartment houses.

And this is in the United States—not in China.

FORCED LOYALTY.

In Turkey members of parliament, government officials, teachers, soldiers, and others, are forced by law to wear clothes and shoes made in their own country. Trying to get loyalty by law is a poor way. The way to get trade is to make the best goods, and advertise that fact to the people. We are all entitled to the best goods if we can get them without stealing. Turkey has a lot to learn about democracy.

ADJUSTMENT.

A Milwaukee girl, whose back had been broken for a year, died the other day. Long before she died she had earned the title of Milwaukee's "happiest girl." She was Elaine Spurbeck. In her misfortune her courage never faltered. The capacity of the human being for adjustment is something inspiring.

THE MYSTERY.

A New York financier condemns business men because they don't pay any more attention to young men starting in business. High school graduates, he says, are thrown out into the world of affairs with finance a complete mystery to them.

"Get your business men to take the mystery out of finance for school boys. They want facts," he says.

Perhaps the principal fact about finance for boys and young men to learn is that you can't spend more than you earn and get away with it for very long.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

The Reverend Dr. Fosdick, of New York, in whose church nobody ever goes to sleep, says science causes religion to deal "with new ideas in the theoretical realm, and with new powers in the practical realm."

The old Bible story, Dr. Fosdick says, "telling stories of men living on a flat, stationary earth, with skies and light above and a place of the dead underneath," no longer answers the purpose.

No State, says Dr. Fosdick, will be able to pass laws strong enough to hold back science. He is right about that. The theory that the round earth travels around the sun is more generally accepted, although the man that gave the truth to the world was compelled to deny the truth on his knees and spent years of his old age in prison for contradicting the old Bible story.

Two kinds of good news for automobile owners:

First, you are told that if and when the natural supply of gasoline gives out, synthethic gasoline will be made to take its place.

Second, scientists have discovered a system of bud grafting on rubber trees which should increase the yield of a tree 400 per cent.

It is predicted that the cost of rubber delivered in this country will drop from twenty-five cents to less than ten cents a pound.

Scientists say they can make synthethic rubber as well as synthetic gasoline, but that probably will be postponed, like artificial gasoline making, until natural supplies diminish.

A French scientist proves by careful observation that cancer is NOT contagious. To do away with the false, persistent suspicion is a great blessing. Married couples, living together, one the victim of cancer, do not contract the disease from each other, and cannot contract it. That is proved by reliable statistics.

The German Ambassador to Washington says the Grand Canyon was the model for America's new style of skyscraper, with its setbacks. A more interesting suggestion is that the Grand Canyon will supply a good model for cellars to be dug under skyscrapers in the future, when flying

Two Bichloride of Mercury Tablets Taken August 14 Ends Fatally for Victim at City Hospital Last Night.

WOMAN CAME HERE FOUR MONTHS AGO

Body Taken to Miller Funeral Parlors Pending Receipt of Word From Relatives Residing in Marietta.

Mrs. Ruth Allender Warden, 25, died last night in the City hospital as a result of swallowing two 30-grain bicholiride of mercury tablets taken with suicidal intent, it is said, in a houseboat at the foot of Market street on Sunday evening, August 14.

Lived in House Boat.

Mrs. Warden, who formerly resided in Marietta, came to East Liverpool about four months ago and during that time made her home with a family in a houseboat on the river front. No cause was assigned for her taking the poison.

The body was removed to the Miller funeral home, West Sixth street, where it is being held pending word from relatives at Marietta.

LINDBERGH GLIDE NEW DANCE STEP

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—"The Lindbergh Glide," a tango waltz with a nifty take off, and the "Dixie Stomp," a syncopated fox trot with a sway to it, are making a strong bid to supplant the "Charleston" and the "Black Bottom" as the popular dances of the coming season.

These new dances, and many others, are being exhibited today at the convention of the dancing masters of America. After due consideration the dancing masters will place their official approval on what is to be the dance of the winter season. Other dances under consideration include the "Yankee Prance," the "Finale Hop," the "Co-ed" and the "Pasillo."

FESS DENIES CANDIDACY FOR COOLIDGE JOB

Ohio Senator Addresses 2,000 People at Xenia.

FALSE REPORT

Explains Why Cal "Does Not Choose to Run in 1928."

XENIA, O., Aug. 23.—Senator S. D. Fess of Ohio, regards as "unfounded" the rumors that the mantle of President Coolidge may fall upon his shoulders when the Republican party convention meets to select a candidate for presiednt next year, he told an audience of 2,000 here last night.

His utterances came at the outset of a speech to a civic gathering after he had been introduced by City Manager S. . Hale as a "possible Republican nominee for presiednt."

The publicity he has received as a possible nominee, the Senator declared is entirely due to the friendship of Washington newspapermen.

"While I appreciate the honor for the sake of my family," he said, "there is absolutely no foundation for these rumors. When you read these favorable references to me, they are only the kindly feeling the newspapermen of Washington have for me. If there is any possibility of my being nominated or becoming president, I should be the most unhappy man here, for I know the burdens of the office."

Fess declared his judgment is that the next leader of his party is the "man who is now presiednt," but declared that was not the wish of Mr. Coolidge, who assured the Ohio senator, during the latter's recent visit to the Black Hills, that he was fully determined upon his course.

"Ten years is too long for any man to be president," Fess said Mr. Coolidge told him. "People get tired of him. This is not a one-man country."

COMMITTEE TO VISIT AIRPORT

C. of C. Invited to Attend Demonstration at Bettis Field.

Members of the aeronautics committee of the Chamber of Commerce have been invited by D. Barr Peat, manager of the Bettis airport, near McKeesport, to attend a demonstration in radio controlled beacon lights which have been erected by the Westinghouse electric company at Bettis field tonight.

The new invention, according to word which has been received here, makes it possible for a flyer to turn on the search lights, illuminating the field, by radio as he nears the airport.

Those from this city who will attend the demonstration will include the aeronautics committee consisting of Charles Hendershot, C. W. Hellyer and Robert Perry; H. B. Barth, Chamber secretary, and also Michael Turk, R. F. Thompson and Frank Swaney.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET THURSDAY

Members of the Republican central committee will meet at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night in the municipal court building when plans will be outlined for the fall campaign. All candidates are urged to attend.

Call for the meeting was issued by Willis Davidson, chairman of the city committee.

GOVERNOR MAY VISIT GUILFORD STATE PARK ON SEPTEMBER 24

Game Association Sets Date for Annual Field Meet.

NAME COMMITTEES

Chief Executive Indicates he Will View Park Site.

Governor A. V. Donahey and other state officials are expected to visit Columbiana county at the annual field meet and picnic of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association which will be held at the Guilford State Park in Center township, near Lisbon, on Saturday, Sept. 24.

Date for the outing was set at a meeting of the county association in the court house at Lisbon last night. Invitations to the state's chief executive and other state officials who have been instrumental in the establishment of the Guilford state park will be extended immediately. The governor some time ago indicated that he was anxious to view the site of the newest of the state parks to be established in the Buckeye state.

Date for this year's picnic is later than the customary time because of the delay which was occasioned in the taking over of the land included in the state park. Members of the fish and game association decided to await until the state had closed the deal for the land before staging their annual field meet. Visitors from this city, Salem, Wellsville, East Palestine, Lisbon and all parts of the county will attend.

Committees to handle various phases of the outing were named at last night's meeting. First meeting of these committees will be held in the court house at Lisbon Thursday evening, Sept. 1.

SHERIFF HUNTS YOUTH'S SLAYER

MOUNT VERNON, O., Aug. 23.—Bloodhounds and a posse of a hundred armed men led by Knox county deputy sheriffs today were searching a hundred acre swamp, at Fredericktown, near here, for the trial of Richard Cole, alias Joseph Smith, alleged slayer of Harry Swank, 17, Ankenytown.

Swank was killed, and Richard Roberts, 20, was shot Sunday night during an argument at Fredericktown. The alleged slayer, fled after the shooting, and search for him was made Monday near Mt. Gilead and at Fredericktown. The Mt. Gilead search proved fruitless, and Monday night bloodhounds were brought from Pomeroy to scour the swamp where a man was reported hiding yesterday.

Geologist's Story Declared to Be Hoax

State Mine Inspector Asserts Affair Was Hatched to Influence Tennessee Highway Commission to Build Road Past Cave.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 23.—Lawrence A. Ashley's disappearance in Knickajack cave and the crews of "rescue workers" were a hoax and a fraud promoted for publicity purposes and for influencing the state highway commission to route a road by the cave, an official report of state mine Inspector O. P. Pile, in the hands of Governor Austin Peay today declared.

Members of the rescue crews who claimed they penetrated unknown recesses in the cave in search of the geologist-explorer returned with fabulous stories of the beautiful underground passages in efforts to attract tourists. The cave is only two miles in length, muddy, full of rocks from falling roofs and most unattractive, Pile declared. He charged both Ashley and those who said they were seeking him with perpetrating a hoax.

Several newspaper correspondents were today planning to accompany Ashley over the route he claims to have traveled during the five days he was reported lost in the subterranean passages of Nickajack cave.

LONG FIGHT TO ESCAPE DEATH PENALTY ENDS AFTER MIDNIGHT

Sacco Defiant, Vanzetti Forgiving at The Prison.

THIRD MAN DIES

Eight Hundred Police Guard Charlestown Prison During Night.

By George R. Holmes.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Sacco and Vanzetti are dead—but the hue and cry of their dramatic passing rang around the world today.

The end of the seven years fight for life by these convicted radicals—a fight unprecedented in American criminal procedure, and unprecedented, too, in its effect on world opinion—came in the early hours of this morning in drab old Charlestown prison.

TAKE 2 LONG FIGHT waC

While World Interested.

Whining sing-song of an electric current whipped through their bodies and burned out their lives while the guns of 800 police encircled them to make sure they did not escape Massachusetts justice.

Nothing like it was ever witnessed in an American city. The streets of Boston and other cities saw marching and near-rioting in sympathy with them.

Radicals of the world protested the innocence of the condemned men and demanded their liberation. In London, Paris, Berlin and Moscow there were riotous demonstrations against America—but they died just the same in grim old Charlestown prison hard by the monument of Bunker Hill, and today their bodies lay on marble slabs in the North Grove mortuary.

To the radicals of the world and to their sympathizers among the intellectuals, Sacco and Vanzetti were symbols of legalistic and capitalistic oppression, and martyrs to the cause of political liberalism.

To the law of Massachusetts, stern and unyielding as the rock of Plymouth, they were a pair of anarchistic aliens who had perpetrated an unusually brutal crime in the murder of a factory paymaster and his guard at South Braintree, and who for seven years have managed to escape paying the penalty therefor.

They died as they lived — defiant, contemptuous of the "system" that took their lives, unrepentant, unorthodox, and protesting their innocence to the end. They went to the chair with their heads up, their tread firm, unafraid and without benefit of clergy.

Vanzetti Says He is "Innocent."

Sacco died almost with "long live anarchy" upon his lips. Vanzetti, older, more kindly, philosophical, pro-

"BLACK BOXES" ROBBED OF STARTLING PAPERS, HOOSIER PROSECUTOR CLAIMS

XIII

By BONITA WITT

Staff Writer for Central Press and The Review-Tribune.

(A grand jury report on the mysterious "black boxes" that have stirred Indiana is expected soon.)

Pandora's famous box scarcely created more curiosity than have the little "black boxes" among Indianians. These boxes reputed to hold the private correspondence and documents of D. C. Stephenson, erstwhile power recently were turned over to the Marion county (Indianapolis) prosecutor William H. Remy, and his assistants by L. G. Julian, of Evansville, former associate of Stephenson.

Indiana has been waiting for September to come—scheduled date of an explosion. In the absence of Remy, who has been ill, the grand jurors have been meeting three days a week to read the documents the boxes contain.

One of Stephenson's attorneys told the writer: "I know, the prosecutor knows, and the grand jurors know, that all the dynamite isnt in the 'black boxes.' Of course we can't tell yet when all the material will be turned over, if ever."

Silence as to Contents.

No intimation has come from the grand jury room concerning the evidence they have been perusing. Whether the boxes contain information of sufficient import to enable the jurors to bring in criminal indictments remains to be seen.

Several persons close to Stephenson have hinted that the former Klan grand dragon, sitting in his cell at Michigan City, threatening to tumble down state and city officials from the seats to which he avers he raised them, thinks he has in his possession contracts which in reality no longer are where and with whom he once placed them. Stephenson's friends insist he has been "double-crossed and sold-out" by folks who have "peddled" documents with which he entrusted them.

However, they assert, there's still plenty of "fireworks" left to 'bust' Indiana politics wide open" when the grand jury makes its report.

Working for Release.

In recent weeks Stephensons lawyers have intensified their efforts to obtain his release from prison. If the state supreme court does not act within a "reasonable" length of time on the appeal of his conviction now before the court his lawyers may file a new petition which one of the lawyers declares "will contain some startling disclosures."

Clarence Benadum, a Muncie attorney connected with the case, says his client was not on the trip to Hammond, Ind., which resulted in the subsequent death of Miss Madge Oberholtzer, and as the result of which Stephenson was sentenced to life imprisonment. He intimates that the names of several prominent Hoosiers may be mentioned in a new petition as having been members of the party which went to Hammond.

Dubbed the "Inks Club."

Lloyd O. Hill, Stephenson's Indianapolis attorney, calls those persons formerly intimate with the deposed grand dragon who now repudiate him, members of the "Inks Club," which, he says, has a large membership in Indiana. "Inks" means: "I Never Knew Stephenson."

Theyre the men Stephenson threatens.

DINNER STORIES

A delicate Situation.

"Docter," said a woman to her neighbor at the table, "can you tell me who that horrible looking man is over there?"

"Why, yes I can. That's my brother."

"Oh, pardon," stammered the woman, all flustered; "I ought to have known it by the resemblance."

Hard On the Preacher.

"Well, Mother Lena, how is your husband today? He went out in the middle of the service."

"Yes, sir, he's aging rapidly—he walks in his sleep now!"

Large delegation of Newell fans plan to attend the game tonight at Chester when the Homer Laughlin and Superior Cord Tires swing into action for what is expected to be one of the most important battles of the second half of the Industrial league season.

Chester is fighting hard to cop off the honors while Laughlin seeks the title for both halves of the season. Ashe will hurl for the locals, while Crandall will be on the mound for the Chester aggregation.

Many County Exhibitors.

Hancock county will be largely represented among the exhibitors at the annual state fair which opens in Wheeling on Saturday, September 3. It will continue for one week. Boys and girls of the various farm clubs will also have exhibits.

THRILLS PLENTY IN GILBERT FILM

"Twelve Miles Out" Scores Hit at American.

Thrills, romance—and John Gilbert. This is the combination that makes "Twelve Miles Out" one of the most sensational successes of the screen today.

The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer adventure drama, now playing at the Ceramic theatre, is a sensational example of what motion pictures can do; it sways an audience by a gigantic theme; it astounds with the daring of its thrills; it enchants with the delicacy of the love story that like a golden thread runs through the amazing tale of intrigue, daredevil chances and desperate battles.

It gives Gilbert an ideal role—a swashbuckling hero with all the romantic appeal that marked his work in "The Merry Widow." It has all the whimsical bravery of "Bardelys" in ultra modern garb—for it is essentially a story of today, based on the very problem the nation faces.

The cast is as notable as the story, adapted by A. P. Younger from William Anthony McGuire's great stage success. Joan Crawford gives a remarkable performance as the heroine. Ernest Torrence is inimitable always; as McCue, the rumrunner, a strang mixture of the sinister desperado and the whimsical humorist, he has a role that perhaps only Torrence could play. Bert Roach as his comical satellite, and Tom O'Brien as his burly bodyguard are two other outstanding figures. Edward Earle gives a clever delineation as the cowardly attorney. Paulette Duval, Dorothy Sebastian, Gwen Lee and others of note are also in the cast.

African Home Brew Dealt Death Blow By New Amendment

PRETORIA. — "Skokiaan," favorite brew of the African native, has received its death-blow. Under amendments of the Custom Management Act only such yeast as had actually been on order or shipped for export to South Africa at the time of the Second Reading of the Amendment Act of May last year will be allowed to enter the country.

After that all importers will be required to furnish a permit to import, signed by the Commissioner of Police, and only quantities required for legitimate purposes will be allowed to enter the country. The tremendous native trade in imported yeast will be quashed.

Trade in locally manufactured liquor will be expected to increase, there being no legislation which can affect it; but it is doubtful whether the native will develop a real taste for it after enjoying his "Skokiaan" for so many years.

Trade Pacts And Peace

The French and German commercial treaty, signed recently, was three years in the making, but it seems to have been worth working for all that time. It has been called a "commercial Locarno," because the men who have labored over its details believe it will have far-reaching effect on the maintenance of good will and peace between the two countries. This pact will be in force only until Dec. 15, 1928, when it will be replaced by a regular commercial treaty.

The present trade agreement is broad in scope and covers most classes of goods bought and sold between the two stations. Under its terms each country will be a "favored nation" to the other in regard to these transactions. French agriculture will receive special benefits. Germany has agreed to lower many tariffs and not to exceed existing ones in such important categories as cotton, wool, silk, leather, metallurgical and mechanical products, soap, perfumery and porcelain. Germany will be able to export to France chemical products, electrical instruments, pottery, porcelain and toys. Each country will ship a limited amount of its wines into the other country.

Commerce is an important cause of peace or war, according as it is carried on with less or more friction between countries. This French and Germany agreement appears to eliminate considerable friction. There will be less need of large armaments in the world when there is no more commercial friction.

The Cost Of a Welcome

New York City is nothing if not a lavish host. It was revealed the other day that the metropolis had spent $70,000 on three recent affairs—the welcome to Lindbergh, the reception to the president of Cuba and that to the United States fleet.

Of these three stirring events, the Lindbergh celebration came highest. It cost $50,000. The highest single item in that bill, $13,101, was for the erection of grandstands. There were engraving and florist bills, banquet and hotel bills, and so on. The illuminated scroll presented to Lindbergh cost $900.

Perhaps it was worth the money. None of us would grudge any expenditure that was necessary to do sincere honor to Charles Lindbergh or his fellow aviators—there were also costly receptions for Byrd's group and for Chamberlin, but those bills have not yet been made public. Yet such large totals inevitable raise a question as to whether the money is most wisely spent.

Public banquets and receptions get to be pretty commonplace because they follow a stereotyped form that becomes a bore to everybody concerned—heroes, celebrities, and admiring throng alike. We look forward to a day when some enterprising welcoming committee will be original enough to think up something new for this purpose. Elaboration has already gone so far that we suspect any really new and pleasing reception will be surprisingly simple in its nature. And then it will probably cost a whole lot less than $50,000.

Easy Divorce

Says a Chicago judge, who has presided long over a divorce court:

"The man cheats his wife. The wife cheats the husband. They both cheat the children, and when the break comes they both conspire to cheat the judge.

"Everybody knows that divorce evidence is mostly lying. Why obstruct the courts with fraudulent divorces? A judge hears 40 or 50 cases a day. He can't investigate all of them. Perjurers have a fine field in divorce cases.'

A nasty state of affairs, surely, if the judge is right—and doubtless he has considerable grounds for his drastic statements.

His Honor seems to think there is no hope for improvement. People will be divorced anyhow, he thinks, and they might as well do it without perjuring themselves. That might be done, he suggest, by making divorce still easier, and fixing it so that "any two people who are tired of living together could go to the county clerk, pay $5 and get a divorce."

That is doubtless satirical. The obvious remedy is to stop issuing divorces in any court at the rate of 40 or 50 a day, take more time to inquire into the merits of each case, with adequate help, and punish those who are proved guilty of perjury. Surely the divorce evil is great enough to warrant handling divorce cases with as much formality and care as we do ordinary civil or criminal cases.

Bigger Boys

The Journal of the American Medical Association states that there has been an increase in the stature of American boys during the last 50 years. More than 100,000 boys, of American-born parents, attending unselected schools, have been measured and their stature compared with that of a nearly similar group measured 50 years ago.

Horace M. Gray, M. D., writing in the Journal several factors as contributing to this development. They are the decline of child labor, more intelligent nutrition, improvement in clothing styles, more exercise and recreation, and medical and social progress.

It seems quite reasonable and even certain that these things have contributed to the healthy growth of American boyhood. Even if an individual cannot increase his own stature merely by taking thought, it is obvious that men and women, by acting upon sound thinking, can do a lot toward increasing the stature, the health, usefulness and happiness of the boys and girls now coming up to maturity and the unborn youngsters who will thus be given a better chance in life than most of their predecessors.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trai ns— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—These are drab days for those gay creatures of the Fortuitious Forties known as chorus girls. The demand for them has been slimmer than ever before in Rialto history. There were just three whopping choruses in town during the summer.

Only two cabarets had a merry-merry of consequence. And the sagging night club business pyramided the misery. It used to be the chorine could butter over less summer days with a roof garden engagement. But this, too, was denied them.

Any girl who leaves the fireside to seek an engagement in New York this winter is courting bitter disappointment. The little up-state theatrical agencies in Times Square now have more than a dozen applicants for every job.

Scores already have moved from theatrical hotels to hall rooms—and others have vanished. A personnel manager of a big department store reports more than twenty chorus girls working at basement counters. Others have become manicure nad telephone girls.

But those who cling to the forlorn hope with that rare optimism of their calling are in desperate plight. It is no exaggeration that many are without necessary food and clothing. Headlines recently have told of a number turning on gas or searing lips with acid.

The chorus girl who is basking nightly in the spot is a target for ready dinner buyers and the Johns who go "buy-buy." But the jobless girl finds herself completely out of the picture. Her halo is made by the lights and tinsel. Without them she is often as commonplace as the mold on a pat of butter.

Most of them are improvidential. They did not put in the bank and consequently are unprepared for rough weather. The most affluent have had apartments in the West Seventies, but so bleak is the outlook that even hard hearted landlords have cancelled many leases.

Under the canopy of a West 44th street theatre as the audience was departing the other evening three blind men a few feet apart came along tapping the sidewalk noisily with canes. The play happened to be one in which a man suddenly blinded played a tragic role and a shower of coin fell into each cup.

Speaking of chorus girls, one wonders where they select those airy names. Among the few now playing are: Aini Hendricks, Thaile Hamilton, Bee Basil, Leonita Waters, Heddika Rich, Carlindy Abby, Deever Haines and Seattle Wright. There is an unbeatable collection of first names! And Gladys Glad is quite a famous and beautiful show girl.

Wardrobe mistresses in theatres play a sympathetic part in the lives of the chorus girl. Many were of the chorus in opulent days and they know by bitter experience the value of thrift. The chorus girl in trouble and away from her parents usually turns to the wardrobe women for advice and consolation.

Many successful girls of the chorus "adopt" mothers. They are kindly gray haired ladies, often old character actresses, in need of shelter and in exchange for a place to live they look after the fluttering birdlings and attempts to protect them from worldly dangers.

The Stage Door Inn is a co-operative enterprise in midtown, providing positions for unemployed chorus girls as waitresses. They are permitted, in order of application to work there for a few weeks between engagements.

A theatrical agency manager, contrary to popular impression, says most girls who fall in chorus girl jobs and are out of employment for long periods return to their homes. The popular idea is that they take a short cut to the "dogs."

HASKINS' LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

State Care of Child Wards.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—What the state should do for and with children who are dependent, defective, delinquent, neglected, incorrigible, or illegitimate is the subject of a survey that has just been made public by the Children's bureau of the United States department of Labor. The survey was made in seven counties in Pennsylvania. Whether that suffices as a cross section of conditions throughout the United States is not stated by Dr. Neva R. Deardorff, who prepared the report.

Before presenting its recommendations, however, the report dispels an illusion that is almost as old as community care of unfortunates when it says that orphanage and illegitimacy can no longer be regarded as the chief explanations of why children are cared for in public institutions and by public or semi?public agencies.

From time immemorial it has been assumed that the child that the state had to care for was, in nine cases out of ten, either an orphan or one of those greater unfortunates left on the doorstep of the world by an anonymous father.

The survey made in Pennsylvania showed that the majority of the children covered by it were neither orphans nor nameless. Out of a total of 996 children accepted for care by institutions during the period included in the survey, 621, or 62 per cent, were known to have come directly from the parental home in which at least one parent was living, or from the home of relatives, while 341 of the 688 children accepted for care by agencies came from homes in which the same conditions prevailed.

On account of defective investigations prior to accepting the children and the lack of an adequate recording system among some agencies, there were 437 children in the two groups for whom it was impossible to ascertain the child's whereabouts When accepted for care. If the facts concerning this large group had been known, it is stated, it is probably that the percentages mentioned would be even higher.

Purpose of the Survey.

The survey was undertaken by the federal agency at the request of the Pennsylvania Children's commission, which had been appointed "to study all laws relating to child welfare and to suggest revisions and amendments to the statutes of Pennsylvania which relate to children." The big idea was to ascertain, if possible, the extent to which children were growing up under conditions of special hardship and handicap, and the methods employed by local communities and by the state to ameliorate the hardships and remove the handicaps.

The counties included in the study were among those that, presumptively, reflected conditions ordinarily considered favorable to a fairly high degree of general well-going. Nevertheless the conditions revealed were shocking.

For instance, who would dream that in a state such as Pennsylvania children, in this day and age, could be subjected to indenture, or "bound out" to work for their "keep" until they attained their majority? Yet in one of the counties, a dairying community, an indenture form dating as far back as 1630 was found to be in use and fifteen children were under indenture. It was not until the last session of her legislature that Pennsylvania definitely abolished indenture.

Again, in another county there were neither children's institutions nor placement societies. The one organized effort in behalf of children is reported to have been a humane society that had as its primary object the prevention of curelty to animals!

Conditions resulting from so-called child marriages were cited as contributing largely to the problem of caring for children whose parents are unable to or will not care far them. However startling it may be it is none the less true that Pennsylvania has no law fixing the age at which children are marriageable with the consent of their parents or guardians, conditions in that respect being almost as archaic as those in India where cradle marriages are not infrequent.

Court Decisions Make the Law.

Failing a statutory provision, judicial decisions have established common-law ages at which girls nad boys may be legally married if they have the consent of those responsible for them—12 years for girls and 14 years for boys. During the year covered by the survey there were in the seven counties 627 marriages in which one or both parties were under 18 years of age. One of the brides was only 12, 10 of them were but 14 years of age, 50 were 15, 202 were 76, and 322 were 17. Five of the grooms were only 16 years old, 33 were 17, and 164 were from 18 to 20.

The insecure, defective, broken, and

Britain Has Made Rapid Strides in Clothing Industry

LONDON.—The greatest development ever known in British industry has taken place since the world war in the women's clothing trade. This fact is revealed in statistics just issued, which show that though women may wear less today than they ever did, they are better dressed than at any time in their history.

One-seventh of the working population of Great Britain is now employed in the clothing trade, accrding to statistics. Tailors number more than 280,000; dressmakers and milliners nearly 200,000; 40,000 persons are engaged in the silk and artifician trades, and ther are 24,000 lace-workers.

The boot and shoe bill of the women of the country annually totals $125,000,000—or between thirty and forty million pairs, while $70,000,000 annually are expnded on hats. Something like $200,000,000 are spent on miscellaneous items.

COSTS RUNS HIGH

Work on Chaplin Picture "Circus" to be Resumed.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—The big studio tent of "The Circus," Charlie Chaplin's unfinished picture, was hoisted and staked out again today as the comedian, now a free man, prepared to resume his acting after an eight months' layoff. Lita Gray Chaplin received an interlocutory decree of divorce from Chaplin yesterday. The comedian settled $825,000 upon her and her two small sons in a property settlement reached out of court.

A trust fund of $200,000 for Sydney Earle, 16-month, and Charles Spencer, Jr., 26 months, was included in the settlement. Mrs. Chaplin will have the babies custody and will administer the trust fund on their behalf.

Although Chaplin himself was expected to go today to Catalina Island for a short rest, other members of the cast of the "Circus" were ordered to take up work at once on the unfinished comedy. Chaplin and his supporting players, including Merna Kennedy, leading lady, stopped work on the picture when his wife sued for divorce eight months ago.

"The Circus" must be turned over to United Artists for Christmas release, Alfred Reeves, manager of the Chaplin studios, declared, and nothing will be permitted to delay it further.

With the general terms of the property settlement upon Lita Gray Chaplin made public, speculation centered today upon details of the huge award. According to reports considered trustworthy, Mrs. Chaplin will receive $375,000 in cash. The remaining $250,000 will be paid over a three-year period, it was said, with 4 per cent interest accruing upon the deferred payments. The trust fund will be established within five years, it was reported. Until that time Chaplin will pay $1,000 a month for the care of the children.

In all, the divorce action is expected to cost the comedian well over a million dollars, including such intangible losses as lost earning power during the past eight months. Not considering the loss of earning power or his own attorney's fees, it was reported that Chaplin will pay approximately $950,000 for his freedom.

machines land on roofs, and are lowered, for parking, in cellars a mile deep.

Paris dressers, realizing that long hair is "coming in," are buying stocks of "transformations," long hair while waiting for bobbed hair to grow.

Short hair is common sense, of course, and, in time, long hair will be as obsolete as a vein over the face.

Long after men had cut their hair, primitive women let their hair grow long, because, matted with grease, it was a good thing in cold weather.

Long hair seems "feminine" to men. Women do what men want, and the long hair comes back. It will go away again.

Uncle Sam owes $18,000,000,000 in bonds outstanding. The bonded indebtedness of all the States totals $1,846,000,000. Borrowing by the States, stimulated perhaps, by those willing to pay a high price for bonds free of national income tax, has been criticized. But State debts are small, considering the wealth of the nation.

Florida, Nebraska and Wisconsin have no State debt. South Dakota has the highest per capita, $85.15. New York State owes the most and can afford to. Central Park in New York City is worth more than the whole State debt.

Half the money borrowed by the States has been spent on good roads, a fact that justifies the borrowing. If it could be said that the other half had been spent on public schools the situation would be perfect, and it wouldn't matter if the States owed a billion apiece.

The Carnegie Foundation has spent years and money most usefully to promote care of the teeth and proper education of dentists. In many cases the poor pay more than the rich for inferior dental work. The number of really good dentists is totally inadequate. Ninety per cent of children at least have their teeth neglected. Neglected teeth prevent perfect digestion and a good blood supply. Infected teeth kill millions through heart disease and other troubles.

all but vanished with the coming of dawn today—one week after the ill-fated "Golden Eagle" and "Miss Doran" hopped off on their disastrous attempt to reach Honolulu.

Capt. Erwin and navigator Eichwaldt, aboard the "mercy" plane, "Dallas Spirit" have been missing since Friday.

Not a single authentic clew as to the fate of the three planes and their seven occupants has been found, despite the fact that innumerable naval vessels, planes and fishing smacks have searched every mile of the great circle course between here and Hawaii.

Reluctantly friends of the missing fliers are resigning themselves to what seems the inevitable. Sympathy centers on Miss Mildred Doran, the 22 year-old Flint, Mich., school teacher, who was a passanger on the plane named for her, piloted by Auggy Pedlar, navigated by Vilas Knope. Others missing are Pilot Jack Frost and Navigator Gordon Scott of the Hearst monoplane "Golden Eagle."

Despite the apparent futility of the search, the navy will "carry on" until Thursday, it was announced today.

CHURCH RECTORY WRECKED BY BOMB

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Investigation was under way here today to determine the cause of an explosion which destroyed a side entrance and shattered window glass in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church at 2:15 this morning.

Police expressed the belief that a bomb had been placed at the entrance. Four priests and nine brothers of the order of Franciscan Monks were asleep in the building at the time of the explosion, but none was injured.

Carpenter Shop Damaged.

Fire, believed to have originated from defective wiring, broke out shortly after midnight in the carpenter shop of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh railroad shops in Wellsville. The flames were extinguished with little damage.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—While new forward movements were in progress in a number of the motor, industrial and railroad stocks at the beginning of trading today, the market as a whole was irregular, with reactionary movements in the oils and specialties.

Heavy selling of some of the recent ground gainers accompanied reports that the "pools were getting out."

United States Steel and General Motors were pushed along to new high record prices. Steel common was widely acclaimed the new market leader as preparations were made for an important meeting of the finance committee of the corporation this afternoon.

Easy money, pool and professional operations and the market's technical position overshadowed general business conditions and industrial reports as factors having any bearing on the market today.

Shorts in the high priced specialties were reported to have been severely punished, yet persistently selling stocks on anticipation of a "break." Bullish pools, on the other hand, are giving the strongest support to their speculative favorites, and in most cases they have come off victorious.

Interest shifted today to a larger number of the standard railroad stocks, with Union Pacific, Southern Railway, Atchison, Great Northern, Pennsylvania and New York Central leading a moderate advance. Revival of the "merger talk" and trunk-line systems stimulated some buying of the so-called speculative railroad shares at a slight advance in prices.

No definite lowering of the call money rate was yet in sight, though funds were freely advanced by the banking institutions, which look for a continuance of easier money conditions; cotton market was slightly reactionary at the start, as the result of profit taking, Southern Liquidation and lower Liverpool Cables. Grain markets were steady, with narrow price changes.

A 10-cent cut in Pennsylvania Crude Oil prices was reflected in an irregular market for the oil stocks. Pan American touched a new low for the year at 52⅜, down about 4 points from yesterday, while Atlantic Refining slid off a point.

American Can, Pressed Steel Car, Barnet Leather, United States Realty, and other Monday's star performers carried their market values up the scale a point or two, while Yellow Truck, Remington Rand and Brown Boveri settled down to a lower range.

Long Fight Ends

claimed his innocence while seated in the chair and was pronouncing his forgiveness of his enemies when the guards stepped back and signalled for the fatal current.

"I am innocent of all crime,' said Vanzetti, without attempting theatrical gestures. "Not only of this one, but all."

He spoke simply, in a quiet voice, as if he had said:

"I am tired." He lay back quietly and waited for death.

Not so Sacco. Younger more volatile and impetuous, his first cry upon entering the death chamber was, "long live anarchy" and his last "farewell, my mother."

Preceding them to the chair was Celestino Madeiros, a Portuguese bank bandit, who killed a cashier in Wrentham while in the act of holding up the place. Oddly enough, Madeiros had confessed to the same murder for which Sacco and Vanzetti were executed and his confession exonerated the two radicals. But the law of Massachusetts refused to believe him.

Madeiros Indifferent.

Phlegmatic and sullen, seemingly indifferent to his fate, Madeiros had eaten everything that came his way during his long stay in the death house. He had eaten and slept the long days and nights away. He even had to be awakened three hours before his execution to be informed that this was his last night on earth, and having heard it, he turned over and was asleep again in five minutes. He marched stolidly to the chair and died without a murmur. Nobody rioted or tossed bombs in his behalf.

The scene at Charlestown prison probably was without parallel in American criminology. Eight hundred police and state police, armed with riot guns, riot clubs and .45 automatics, encircled the old prison in a ring of steel.

Backing them up were machine guns mounted atop the walls. Powerful searchlights sprayed the adjacent streets to seek out possible trouble. For four blocks around the prison the streets were roped off, and nobody was permitted to enter without a pass signed by Warden Wm. Hendry or by a police permit.

Just off the main gate a temporary press room had been established with special wires leading to many cities, and in this restricted space three score perspiring reporters and telegraphers labored to inform the world as to how Sacco and Vanzetti died. The flash of their successive deaths was bulletined in London, Paris and other world capitals almost as soon as it was in New York and Chicago.

Governor Adamant.

Several miles away, in a closely guarded office on the third floor of the capital, sat Governor Alvan T. Fuller, whose official duties for more than a month past have been largely confined to this world-famous case. Grim-faced and resolute, the governor remained at his desk until thirteen minutes past midnight. At that hour Madeiros was dead and Sacco was on his last short march to earthly oblivion.

Governor Fuller heard all last minute pleas for respite from relatives of the condemned men, from their attorneys and their friends and to them all he was courteous and adamant.

Governor Fuller's friends said that the reason he remained at his desk was that he would not have it said he "ran away" from any last minute appeals. Some said, too, that the governor anticipated possible personal reprisals from sympathizers with the executed men, and if it came he preferred to meet it where his wife and children would not be subjected to danger. But the trouble failed to materialize. The city was policed down to the last alley, and when the governor left, heavily guarded, he motored to his summer home at Rye Beach, N. H.

The battle to save the two Italians continued right up to the foot of the chair itself. Throughout the day frantic appeals were made to this judge and that judge for stays, but all in vain, not a single staying authority was overlooked by the array of lawyers that fought to save sacco and Vanzetti. Air plane, motor speed boats and fast automobiles were used to circumvent time and distance, but all proved unavailing.

All Pleas in Vain.

Only an hour before the executions, final dramatic pleas were made by Mrs. Sacco and Miss Vanzetti to Governor Fuller for mercy. Half an hour before the march to the death chamber began, Attorney Michael A. Musmanno made an ardent plea to the same authority. One minute before midnight, Francis Fisher Kane, another of their attorneys, emerged from the governor's office unsuccessful. Before Kane left the capitol, Madeiros was in the chair.

Beside himself with grief, Musmanno rushed to the prison and demanded a final interview with the prisoners. Warden Hendry told him it was too late. Musmanno pleaded.

"Tell me," said the warden, "and I will carry the message to them."

"I want to tell them," said the little attorney passionately, "that there is more mercy in their hearts than in the hearts of many who profess the orthodox religion."

"I want to tell them I know of their innocence and all the electric chairs and gallows in the world cannot change that knowledge. I want to tell them they are the two kindliest and tenderest men I ever knew, that they have loved their brother men with a sincerity that has always been apparent.

He would have said more, but the warden stopped him. It was no use. The hour was too close at hand.

Priest Remains With Men.

It was about this time that the Rev. Father Murphy, the rotund Catholic chaplain of the prison, gave up the ghost. For months he has labored with the three men, striving to return them to the faith of their fathers and of their childhood. But they would have none of it. He paid three visits to the men during the day, advising them of the church's willingness to sponsor them into what lay beyond the chair. Each time he met the same indifference. They went out as they had lived—beyond the pale of the church.

Even though the bodies of Sacco and Vanzetti lay stiff and stark on the marble slabs of the Northern mortuary today, the Boston police force was not demobilized. If anything, it was more alert.

Plans are afoot for a gigantic march "in memoriam" through the streets of Boston by sympathizers with the dead men. And there are always the rumors of reprisals. Not for several days at least will the vigilance of Boston's police be relaxed in the slightest.

Takes Vanzetti's Body to Italy.

In a few days, Luigia Vanzetti, elderly sister of Bartolomeo, will place his body aboard an Italian boat and accompany it back to the homeland for interment in his native soil. Her week in America has been a tragic one. She arrived, bewildered and alone. A week ago, unfamiliar with the language or the law of the country that has taken her brother's life.

Sacco's body will be buried near Boston.

Today several Boston papers printed editorials urging thatt he city "get back to normalcy."

Bodies To Lie in State.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—All that is mortal of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will lie in state in Boston, New York, Chicago, and several other large cities of the country, according to an ambitious plan drawn up for execution today by the Sacco-Vanzetti defense committee.

Embalmed for long preservation as was that of Lenine, the bodies will rest in diamond studded caskets for their journey.

Later they will be carried by steamship to their native land—Italy.

41 PARALYSIS CASES REPORTED

Total Number of Victims Now 141, Figures Show.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23.—Infantile paralysis cases in Ohio today numbered 141, it was reported here by the state department of health, following the receipts of weekly reports from the various county and city boards of health in the state. This is an increase of 41 cases over the report of Monday, but represents cases not before reported during the past week, Dr. John E. Monger, chief of the department of health pointed out.

Of the communities reporting today, and not previously included in the districts where the disease has been noted, Cleveland showed the heaviest prevalence with 12 cases.

If the increase continues, health officials declared, some action will be taken in regard to the postponement of school opening, generally held the first Monday in September. It is believed that some action will be required, at least in those communities where the disease has been reported and where children are forbidden to visit places of public gathering.

BUS LINE ASKS FOR REHEARING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Challenging the right of the state utilities commission to revoke its license to operate, the Warren-Salem Coach Line company today asked the commission to grant a rehearing. The commission recently revoked the certificate which authorized the company to operate between Warren and Salem and between Ellsworth and Deerfield.

The revocation was based, in part, upon the claim that the concern incorrectly represented, at the time its certificate was issued, that it was operating as a corporation April 28, 1927, when the Freeman-Collister act, regulating operation of motor vehicles, became effective the commission held that the company was not incorporated until a later date.

DONAHEY IS CONVALESCING

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Absence of definite information today concerning the condition of Governor Donahey, ill with summer grippe at his summer cottage, Indian Lake, was interpreted by officials at the governor's office as indicating that his condition was "satisfactory." Donahey's condition was not series, it was stated.

GARY'S GIFTS ARE $2,000,000

Steel Wizard's Will Filed for Probate in New York.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The will of the late Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, was filed here today. There was nothing in the document or the accompanying petition to indicate the value of the estate, although specific bequests totaled more than $2,000,000.

The petition said the will disposed of personal property valued at more than $10,000 and real property valued at more than $10,000.

The will was filed for probate in the office of Surrogate Leone D. Howell of Nassau county, by Attorney Kenneth T. Halstead of New York city.

TWO JUDGMENTS IN MUNY COURT

Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff in the amount of $175 in the case of Lester E. Wright against Roy J. Gilliland, J. E. Gilliland and Rosa Gilliland.

Suit of the Central Acceptance company against Ella and Clark Bradfield resulted in a verdict being returned for the defendants.

Both cases were heard before Judge Jesse C. Hanley in municipal court.

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Authorities Believe Salt to Have Contained Poisonous Substances.

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 23.—County officials here today were investigating the death of Mrs. Fred W. Sweeney, 41, who died at her home 12 miles north of this city, apparently of poisoning.

The husband, Fred Sweeney, told the county prosecutor and the sheriff who went to the scene, that he and his wife were both made violently ill a few minutes after they had eaten breakfast this morning and the woman died before medical aid could be summoned.

Sweeney was made violently ill. The officials brought a package of salt, suspected of containing some poison substance, from the Sweeney home here for analysis, and an autospy will be performed in an effort to determine the cause of the woman's death. The couple have seven children.

KENT TRUSTEES TO AIR CHARGES

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Trustees of Kent State Normal college were to reconvene here at 11 a. m. today, to consider charges of mismanagement against Dr. David L. Anderson, president of the school.

Despite statements from board members that a meeting here Monday was purely routine, it was learned that the trustees before adjournment, late yesterday, had heard at least 100 charges filed by the college alumni, against Anderson, which apply to every phase of his administration. Most important among them were charges that Anderson had failed to preserve peace in the faculty and that he was extremely "dictatorial."

Although board members here denied that Anderson was to be ousted, press dispatches from Columbus Monday stated that friends of the Kent president were urging Governor Donahey to request the trustees to retain him.

Anderson has held office one year. During that period he has dismissed over a score of the faculty.

RASH CAUSED DISFIGUREMENT

Lost Sleep Through Itching, Cuticura Heals.

"I had a rash break out on my back and chest. Later it developed into pimples and some of them festered. They spread up to my neck and face and caused disfigurement. My clothing aggravated them quite a lot, and I lost some sleep through the intense itching. The trouble lasted about four months.

"I tried different remedies but they did little or no good. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got relief so purchased more and in a short time I was completely healed." (Signed) H. S. Whitechurch, 5605 Junction Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Jewish-Irish Comedy Drama at Strand Theatre.

With complete realism his aim in "Pleasure Before Business," the clever Columbia Jewish-Irish comedy-drama now showing at the Strand theatre, Director Frank R. Strayer had a cigar factory in its entirety moved from the business district in Los Angeles and re-erected on one of the stages at the Columbia Studios. In addition to the factory itself he had expert cigar makers at work; for during the sequence, the factory owner, played by Max Davidson, is required to make some cigars himself. During the filming of the picture some 700 cigars were made and rolled by the workers.

Icluded in the cast of this parkling feature, which was well selected with the special aptitude of the player for his part in mind, are Virginia Browne Faire, as Davidson's daughter, Pat O'Malley as a young Irish doctor in love with her, Rosa Rosanova as the sympathetic Jewish mother, Lester Bernard, Henri Menjou, Jack Raymond, Tom McQuire and Charles Meakin.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation to friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during the illness and death of the late Mrs. Rosila Shingler.

Especially, do we thank Rev. Fowler, Prof. Laughlin and the singers and all who donated the use of their cars.

Cords And Laughlin Battle For League Supremacy Tonight

CRANDALL, GRIMM GO TO MOUND

Clash May Decide Last Half Pennant Race.

By F. J. W.

CITY INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE baseball fans fortunate enough to be able to wedge themselves into Smith Field tonight may see the contest that determines the local circuit's second half supremacy when Frank Riley's Superior Cords, battling for the honors and a place in the final series, clashes with Pearl Dailey's Laughlinites, the first half champions, who are doing their darndest to make a clean sweep over the entire season.

One of the biggest crowds of the whole campaign is expected to scramble for ringside seats when the two West Virginia rivals, who have had a strangle hold on Industrial league championships ever since the loop started, scrap in the style to which they have become accustomed.

And that means no quarter asked, none given, and the fight goes on until the last man is out.

Southpaw Crandall, who tamed the Newell nine recently at Newell, allowing the Dailey outfit one single hit, will try his luck again and Manager "Punk" Riley is confident that the big hurler will go the route successfully.

Pilot Dailey, in all likelihood, will assign Harry Grimm, the former Mid-Atlantic pitcher, to duty on the rubber and feels certain that he'll repeat his winning performance on the occasion of his first start in local loop ranks.

It was thought perhaps that Ashe might be held in reserve for this game, but Ashe pitched five innings against K. T. K. last night, relieving Digman, and it's not probable that he'll be called back for more work tonight.

A victory will put the Laughlin team in the lead.

SHOCKER IS HURT

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23. — Urban Shocker probably will be lost to the New York Yankees for several weeks, it was learned today. A line drive off Joe Sewell's bat broke a finger on the veteran spitball pitcher's left hand.

AT JERSEY CITY, N. J.:—Johnny Leonard, Allentown, Penna., lightweight, won newspaper decision over Dickie Dixon, of Union City, N. J. (12).

FANS FIGHT FOR DUCATS TO BIG BOUT

$30,000 Worth of Tickets Sold First Few Hours.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Two scenes, incidental to the impending Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight title match, hummed with activity here today.

One was Lincoln field's racing plant where Jack Dempsey, the well-known vacuum hull, is training for his supreme moment of September 22 when he hopes to regain his heavyweight crown from Campion Gene Tunney.

The other—the downtown ticket office of Tex Rickard where normally sane individuals are literally fighting for the privilege of investing $5 to $40 in pasteboard ducats that will entitle them to glimpse the epochal proceedings.

More than $30,000 worth of tickets were sold within a few hours yesterday after the box office was opened to the general public. The cheaper tickets were in greatest demand, but a liberal number of the $40 issue were shoved through the cage.

This was Dempsey's second day in camp. He did no work yesterday, just roamed over the premises with Leo Flynn, his manager and gave the layout his official okay. He will get in some roadwork on the track today and perhaps do some shadow boxing

Trucks Defeat Golden Stars

Cole Loses After Pitching Two-hit Game.

The Indiana Trucks nosed out the Golden Stars, 4 to 3, in a five-inning Community League contest last night.

The Stars scored one in the first and three in the third, and led the Trucks until the final frame. The first half champs counted twice in the fourth and tied it up and went ahead in the fifth.

It was a tough one to lose for Pitcher Cole who set the Trucks down with two hits.

Gene Goes Easy

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Following a day of comparative rest, Gene Tunney got back to work today in preparation for his bout with Jack Dempsey in Chicago next month.

"Rest a day and then work," is the policy of the heavyweight champion at present. He believes that daily workouts would bring him to the peak of condition too soon. Yesterday he contented himself with a road run. Then he rowed on the lake.

TURK NASH WINS AT WELLSVILLE

Turk Nash stayed out of the cellar position in the City Industrial league race by winning from the Wellsville Nash Motors last night at Nicholson Field, the final count being 10 to 1.

The victory ended the long losing streak of the locals.

The Turk Nash club is scheduled to play the K. T. K. nine on Thursday evening at Patterson Field in a postponed game play-off.

2 YOUTHS LEAD FIELD IN AMATEUR

Jones, Ouimet, Evans Finish With 75's.

By Thomas J. Walsh.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—"I only ask one thing of these sharpshooters. Let them lay off that 72 of mine. They can have the rest of the tournament. They know what it is to be famous, I don't. All I ask is my little taste of fame over night. After that, I can pass on out without a regret."

That was 19-year-old Phillips Finlay, yesterday. Just a boy with a typical boy's prayer for the thing that he wanted most. So he stood just off the eighteenth green and silently exhorted each incoming golfer to leave, untouched and inviolate his leadership of the first day's qualifying round of the national amateur golf championship.

Wherefore, he hung breathless by his mental finger nails over the great abyss, fear, as he watched Chick Evans, Watts Gunn, Rudy Knepper, Maurice McCarthy, Max Marston, and other good ones come home, distanced, and when, suddenly, fate snatched the prize from him, it came from a quarter least expected. Fate's instrument happened to be Finlay's very good friend.

But today, neither Eugene V. Homans, Englewood, N. J., with a 72, nor Phillips Finlay, Shinnecock Hills, Conn., with a 72 have the slightest quarrel with fate, for they were leading Bobby Jones, George Von Elm, and one of the finest fields ever assembled into the final days of a championship qualifying round.

Next at 75, came the great Bobby himself, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Guy Standifer, Jack Mackie and Raymond Daly. The last three mentioned have done their 75's before but seldom in a national championship.

All of those mentioned would have to be somewhat terrible today to miss qualifying and, in a slightly less degree that applied also to Dick Jones, Dexter Cummings, Harry Legg, Roland Mackenzie, Arthur Yates, Densmore Shute and Ellsworth Augustus. They were clustered about a composite 76.

Therefore, if these gents must find it hard to miss, what of the rest?

There remained only eleven places for them to complete the 32 survivors, with more than a mere possibility that in the gloaming, darling, we may have one of those highly diverting play-offs for the last few men to get under the wire.

AT HOLYOKE, Mass.—Pete Zivic, Pittsburgh, lightweight, defeated Tony Carney, of New Bedford, Mass. (10).

LAUGHLIN WINS FROM K. T. K., 4-2

BUNCHING four hits and a sacrifice fly in the fourth period, Laughlin came from behind, tied and went beyond K. T. K. on Newell field last evening and won by the standing thus existing, 4 to 2, since neither side scored thereafter.

After retiring the first man up in the first and second Laughlin, with Digman pitching, permitted a run in both these swatting intervals by K. T. K.

Digman gave way to Ashe in the third. The latter retired his opponents without scoring during his hill-top incumbency.

W. O'Brosky, with one run lead, did not allow a single hit until the fourth. The stealing of two bases successively and a throwing error by Hunselman cost the club its first run.

C. Howell, erstwhile Victory Motor twirler, finished the last two innings for K. T. K. He walked two in the fifth and got out of a bad hole by a fast double play behind him. Herbert singled safely off him in the sixth when he retired Lang, Bubin and Sayers in a row.

W. Watson's all in the second as he chaed A. O'Brosky's triple caused his retirement or the day. Lang succeeded him.

After Ashe's entry, K. T. K. had no chance except in the sixth when with two men gone Finley's error and Fisher's safe hit to right put on the tying runs. But they languished on the bags as C. Coleman flew to Bubin.

Simcox in his five innings fanned eight men.

The fielding flash of the game was made by Webber, who by a long scud captured Simcox's fly in left territory in the sixth.

W. Watson's single catch of the game, a fly off C. Coleman's bat in far left was also a pretty piece of work.

Herbert, with two singles in three batting efforts, led all batters for the day.

FILE PETITION IN ERROR IN WELLSVILLE LIQUOR CASE

LONES GRANTS APPEAL ACTION OF PETER SPELL

Motion For New Trial Overruled by Mayor Fogo.

FINED $2,000

Eight Causes in Error Cited in Petition of Accused.

A motion to file a petition in error has been granted by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones in the appeal action taken by Peter Spell against the state of Ohio.

Spell was arrested along with Patsy Caravella, Frank Fusco and Patsy Romano week before last on a farm south of Lisbon, local police confiscating a still and other equipment.

At hearings before Mayor W. L. Fogo, Caravella and Spell were each fined $2,000 and committed to the county jail.

Attorney Frank E. Grossbans, of East Liverpool, representing Spell, asked for a new trial but the motion was overruled and he then appealed to common pleas court.

Eight causes of error were given in the petition filed by the defense. Notice of the intention to file was served upon City Solicitor Luccock.

The petition asserts that there was not sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction and that the verdict of the court was against the weight of the evidence and contrary to law.

INSANE MAN ATTACKS WIFE

Woman Slays Husband in Self Defense Police are Told.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Driven insane by the fate of Sacco and Vanzetti, according to police, Sant Calino, 27, attacked his wife with a table knife in their home at 217 Hudson avenue, Brooklyn, this morning and was stabbed to death in a duel which followed. The wife, Amelia, 24, was taken to Cumberland hospital in a dying condition with thirty-two stab wounds. Police said she stabbed her husband thirty-two times with a carving knife in self-defense.

A thrust through the heart killed Calino. The room was spattered with blood when police broke down the doors.

Mrs. Calino told police her husband had been brooding over the Sacco Vanzetti case for weeks, and apparently became insane when he read of their execution early today.

ROTARY HEARS NOTED LECTURER

Dr. Ray Petty Speaks at Regular Noon-day Meeting.

"Don't be a Jack Horner."

This was the tip given Rotarians today at their noon luncheon meeting by Dr. Ray Petty, noted Redpath chautauqua speaker, pastor of the Philadelphia Baptist Temple, and formerly of Judson Memorial Temple, New York city.

Approximately 40 attended the meeting. Francis Wehner was chairman, introducing first Albert Manton, of this city, a member of the Ohio Wesleyan college glee club, who told of his trip with the glee club through European countries, giving an interesting description of many of the places the organization visited.

Dr. Petty, whose talk concluded the luncheon meeting, asked Rotarians not to be a Jack Horner, who, he pointed out, "stuck in his thumb, pulled out a plumb and said what a bright boy am I."

Those people, said Dr. Petty, who are off in the corner somewhere, eating the pie, pulling out the plums, the thrills of life, forget to credit the person who baked the pie. This, he explained, is true in every walk of life, and is stressed particularly in the industrial world where oftentimes, the fellow in overalls who "bakes the pie" seldom helps to eat it.

Dr. Petty predicted that within 10 years or so there must come some readjustment, where those that are suffering and wanting can get a little more and those who have plenty must take a little less.

Work is Progressing On Construction of Lancha Plana Dam

VALLEY SPRINGS, Cal.—Workmen are assembling and materials are being dumped in vast heaps on the site of the Lancha Plana dam, the largest dam in the world. The massive concrete wall, when completed, will surpass the famous Arrowrock dam near Pocatello, Ida., which hitherto has held the honor of being the world's biggest water barrier.

The dam will be a part of the water system of Oakland, Berkeley, and other cities on the eastern bank of San Francisco Bay. Arthur Davis, chief engineer of the East Bay municipal utility district, who built the Arrowrock dam and a hundred other dams, is in charge of building the Lancha Plana reservoir.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR CHICAGO

CHICAGO.—The new electric chair was officially installed in Cook county jail here in place of the cumbersome gallows.

Prisoners were paraded before the gruesome device as an object lesson. Electrocution replaces hanging in Illinois under a recent law passed in Springfield.

The death machine painted black, was constructed in the shops of the Indiana State penitentiary at Michigan City by Albert Clark, superintendent of shops.

The chair is fashioned of heavy oak with arms and legs of galvanized iron. Heavy straps are passed about the body of the condemned man and an adjustable rubber cushion is pushed forward against the head to make it rigid against the shock.

Electrodes are applied to shaved portions of the head and calves of the leg. Twenty-three hundred volts are released by current leased from a public service company as the jail is not furnished with its own generating plant. Death should occurr normally within fourteen seconds.

Grand Exalted Ruler John F. Malley of Boston, Mass., Past Grand Exalted Ruler August Hermann and John G. Price will be present during the week of the convention and a ritualistic contest is to take place between a number of lodges for the John G. Price cup.

On Tuesday a steamer excursion to Canadian waters will be a feature. Wednesday will be Ladies Day with trips to points of interest including steamer rides to Put-in-Bay and the islands of Lake Erie. The parade will be held on Thursday morning and there will be a Bathing Beauty Pageant that afternoon at four o'clock at the Coliseum at Cedar Point.

Judge Charles L. Justice of the third district court of appeals is president of the Ohio Elk association and John W. Ranney of Columbus, secretary, and these officials predict the greatest state Elk reunion ever held. Excursion rates will be given on all railroads.

A Different and Better Washer

The New Gainaday Electric Washer

THE NEW GAINADAY cleans a "handful of little things" or a tubful in a few minutes. No tangling or pulling out of strings. No wear on most delicate garments.

The secret of the marvelous efficiency of this great washer is in the tub—the perfecting of which required two year's time and a cash investment of $100,000. The tub is all one piece, pressed from 33 oz. drawn copper, nickel-tinned inside — will not warp, rust or corrode.

As it rotates to left and to right it creates a wonderful water action—and there is not a loose edge or moving part inside to cause any wear on the clothes.

Mechanically the NEW GAINADAY is the simplest machine made.

The few moving parts are enclosed and you are no more conscious of its mechanism than of that in a phonograph. Positively nothing to break or get out of order.

The LADY CALLED FATE

By JOSEPHINE K. LITTLEJOHN

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ©1927 CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N

SYNOPSIS.

JOHN MOORE, New York business man, goes to Tucson, Ariz., on business, expecting to return to New York the next day. He meets a college associate, Philip Morton, who has business in Mexico. Both drink heavily of tequila and in the subsequent mixup in identity Moore finds himself in Mexico.

He has in his possession a portrait of a girl which had been Morton's. The girl, Ruth Henshaw, sends her ambassador, Ramon, to tell the supposed Morton that she will meet him at the church at Tubutama. She needs his help. He meets her, also Clench, an associate of her uncle's, and all go to the ranch, where John meets Manuel Lopez, Rodriguez and Barton Henshaw, the uncle. He learns that Morton's business with these men had to do with the secret importation of arms into Mexico.

Wong, Chinese cook, tells Moore to take Ruth away soon. John arranges with Ramon to have horses waiting to take them. Then Clench is murdered and Henshaw tries to fasten the murder on John.

John hears the sound of a motor, then Ruth's cry. He finds Wong lying beside the auto, stabbed to death. He goes to Ruth's room, holding Henshaw, Lopez and Roderiguez at the point of his gun, and directs her to come out.

CHAPTER THIRTY.

"Roderiguez, stand back from that door. Over by the fireplace, Manuel too. Now, Miss Henshaw, open the door."

The bolts grated back. Slowly the door swung open and Ruth Henshaw came into the room and stopped.

John Moore's gaze did not even swerve in her direction; it was fixed upon Henshaw and the men by the fireplace. "You are sure you are not hurt?" He demanded again.

"Yes."

Ruth Henshaw answered between shuddering breaths. "I—saw him—kill—Wong—"

"Ah!" exclaimed John Moore. And then he spoke again, more quietly but with equal authority. "Wong died to save you from these men, Miss Henshaw. He knew what they were. He warned me yesterday afternoon. He wanted me to take you away at once. I did not take his warning seriously enough. And he is dead. But before he died he crawled back to me—out there. And I promised him that I would take you away. You must rouse yourself and help me. Do you hear? Do you understand?"

"Yes," whispered the girl.

"I want a rope. Three ropes. Long ones. Do you know where there are any?"

"In the gate-house, across the courtyard. I—"

"No," said John quickly, with a vision of Wong. "Listen. There is a long coiled rope on the upper porch near the door of my room. You must take a lamp and go after it. You can do that."

"I will go," said the girl. She moved forward toward a lamp on the center table, but John's sharp command stopped her.

"No! Do not go between those men and me. I am taking no chances. Get another lamp somewhere."

Ruth turned back to the room behind her and returned almost at once wih a lighted lamp. She passed behind John and was gone.

Long minutes went by. John Moore endured them with a sick heart. But his eyes never wavered—nor his guns.

And then she was back again. "I have it," she told him.

"Good girl!" he said. "Now you must cut it into three lengths. I have a small knife in my pocket."

"There are hunting knives in this room."

"The girl came within his range of vision as she pulled open a drawer of a wall cabinet on the far side of the fireplace. She picked up a knife and went back to the rope she had placed on the floor behind John. He could not see her now.

But suddenly he heard her exclaim in a choked voice. "Oh!—Oh!"

John Moore broke in a cold sweat, but still he did not turn towards her. "What is it? Quick!"

"The knife!" gasped the girl, "I touched the blade. It is wet—and—my hand—Oh, my God!"

"Madre de Dios!" swore Roderiguez.

John Moore's tones had never been steadier than when he replied to the girl then. "Do what I tell you. Cut that rope. It is for Wong's sake, too, Miss Henshaw. Are you cutting it?"

"Yes," said Ruth, very low.

And then at last Barton Henshaw looked up again at John. He had struggled in vain to regain his mask. This time the acids of evil had etched too deep. He stared at John. "You cannot escape that knife, it seems. Who knows?" he said.

"I've done it, Mr. Moore," faltered Ruth.

"Fine for you! This will soon be over with, Miss Henshaw. Do you know how to make a slip noose?"

"Are you going—?"

"No, I'm not going to kill them unless I have to, but then I should without a scruple. Make a slip noose at the end of each rope."

After a pause: "I've done it."

"Manuel, step to one side—over there. No Miss Henshaw, slip a noose over his head and tighten it until it fits."

"His arm is bleeding."

"No matter. Pull his left hand down and back of him. Don't get back of him yourself. Give me a chance to take a shot at him if he resists you, see? Fasten the rope to his left arm so that if he moves his arm he will strangle himself. Can you do it?"

"I've done it."

"All right. Now Roderiguez, step over there. If he moves jerk the rope, Miss Henshaw. Only his left hand. Yes, I know about the other one. You are sure they cannot move?"

"Yes."

"All right. I'll take the other rope. Spread it out for me. Come behind me and put it in my left hand. Take the gun from this hand and keep it trained on Manuel and Roderiguez. If they move, shoot. You will do as I tell you?"

"Yes."

The slip noose in his left hand, his gun in his right, John Moore approached Henshaw, threw the noose over his neck and tightened it. From Henshaw's eyes evil stared starkly. "I ought to kill you now," said John Moore.

"No, No!" cried the girl behind him. "There has been enough of killing."

"All right," said John. Then to Henshaw: "Turn around. You feel my gun at the base of your neck? Put your hands down behind you and cross the wrists. Now, Miss Henshaw, I'm sorry to ask you to help here but I can't afford to take chances. Tie this rope about these hands."

The girl tied them.

"Thanks." For the first time since she had entered the room he looked directly at her. Or rather at her clothes. She wore a long coat and a close fitting dark dress and a small hat with a veil about it.

"Where are your riding clothes? Upstairs?" he asked.

"In there," said Ruth, dully looking towards the bedroom behind her. "I'd packed a bag to take—"

"Put them on," directed John briefly. "And bring a warm coat. We have a long ride before us. Take your gun! Don't let it be out of your reach until we are safely away from here."

He carried the lamp to the threshold of the door and gave it to her as she passed him.

He himself went swiftly back to the three men. He tightened the ropes on their hands and then wound the long ends around and around their legs. Above Roderiguez's and Manuel's right elbows he fixed torniquets with two hunting knife handles thrust through pieces torn from their shirts.

"Now," he said, "you won't bleed to death. They may find you here before night. Lie down." He caught the shoulders of one mummy-like figure after another and eased them to a prone position upon the floor.

Only Henshaw spoke. "I'll get you, Morton," he said.

"You won't do much getting of anybody," retorted John drily. "They will 'get' you for double murder. And it may interest you to know that I am not Morton. I'm Moore. And I'm reporting your little scheme to Washington. I wonder if those papers—"

He sprang up and crossed to a big table desk which stood against the wall. Upon it lay the brown leather portfolio. "I'll take this," he said.

Henshaw began to swear.

"Cut it," ordered John sharply, "or I'll gag the three of you." Henshaw was silent.

Ruth Henshaw appeared again in the doorway. "I'm ready," she said.

John Moore's bitter anger stirred again as he looked at her. How white she was! How cold and still! As if the warm youth of her had been frozen over. And these men had done this! Why hadn't he killed them?

"Can't we go from here?" pleaded the girl despairingly.

The man's anger gave way to gentleness at her need of it. "We will go," he said quietly. "But I must do one more thing. If you will wait in the garden for me, I will bring Wong—inside the house."

"Let me go with you."

"All right."

In the garden the car lamps still burned like fantastic giant candles at Wong's head and the wind moaned fitfully.

John stooped and picked up the slight body.

Ruth waited for them at the kitchen door and John heard her sobbing breath as he bore his burden past her. "Lock the door," he said. "We are going up above." He heard the bolts shot home as he backed his way through the swinging door into the dining room, and an instant later Ruth followed, bringing the lamp.

On the long oak table lay Wong, the Chinaman. The man and the girl stood looking down at him, the table between them.

The man spoke slowly. "Last night I boasted that I would let nothing harm you. When the test came it was Wong who saved you. He would be glad of that, Miss Henshaw."

The girl did not speak.

Haskin's Letter

unhappy home life which sometimes results where marriage is contracted by people too young to understand its responsibilities is said to have been illustrated by many cases discovered in the course of the investigation.

It is also interesting to know that although 40 years have elapsed since Pennsylvania decided to keep children out of the almshouses, 93 children had been in almshouses in six of the seven counties during the year of the survey. This would seem to indicate that unfortunate children frequently do not enjoy the benefit of the laws that have been enacted in their behalf. In many communities there has been evidenced the idea that you can do anything with a dependent child except drown it, as you would an undesired or undesirable kitten or puppy.

In the matter of delinquency, the Pennsylvania study showed the boys' cases greatly outnumbered the girls. Offenses against property led the list of causes of bringing boys into court, which may be taken as evidence that boys are light-fingered, while waywardness and sex offenses were the major reasons for bringing girls into court, which might be taken as the foundation for the assumption that girls are light of morals. However, it is stated, circumstances in the individual cases are such as to preclude generalizations.

But a general impression conveyed by the report is that the unfortunate youngsters who are dependents or delinquents are out of luck, and all through no fault of their own. They do not seek their way into the world, their handicaps are usually to be attributed to their parents or to misfortunes which they could not possibly avert, and their deliquencies, in the long run, are those for which they can not be held primarily responsible.

The outstanding thought suggested is that every child born into the world is potentially an asset to society, to be conserved and developed as society deals with its more generally recognized assets.

Britain Now Drinks More Milk Than Beer; Statistics Cited

LONDON.—British now drinks more milk than beer!

Statistics issued by Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the Board of Trade, reveal that while approximately nineteen gallons per head of the population are consumed of each beverage, milk is in slightly greater demand.

The amount of milk consumed by Britain's population during 1926 was approximately 850,000,000 gallons. Beer consumption in the period worked out at 749,531,184 gallons.

PROSPECTS GOOD

Maine Will Lead all Other States in Crop.

BOSTON, Aug. 22.—The potato crop in the United States for 1927 is estimated at 410,714,000 bushels, the New England Crop Reporting Service of the United States department of Agriculture reports. The government statisticians base their figures on farm conditions as of August 1.

The harvest of 1926 was 356,123,000 bushels which indicates increased production this year if the harvest yield according to the estimates. The average crop for the five-year period from 1922 to 1926 was 394,135,000 bushels.

Prospective production gained 4.5 per cent during July and is now 15.3 per cent larger than the crop harvested last year and 4.2 per cent above the average production of the past five years.

About 20 per cent of the increase for the United States occur in Maine. Improvement was general throughout the country. Thirty-nine states, including all important states, show increases in potato prospects.

Substantial Increase.

The present prospect is for a substantial increase over the short crops of the last two years but in proportion to the population it would be hardly more than the average production of the past five years.

crop 7.0 per cent greater than last year's harvest and 9.6 per cent above average. Throughout northern New England conditions have been favorable and potatoe prospects improved materially during July. In southern New England conditions have been less favorable due to excessive rainy weather, aphis, blight and other insects and diseases. Yields of early potatoes in southern New England will be light in many localities.

The eight major late crop states gained 5.8 per cent in indicated production during the month of July and now expect a crop 12.1 per cent larger than last year but nearly equal to their average production. Prospects in the minor late surplus states gained 3.8 per cent during July and are 29.0 per cent above last year and 19.1 per cent above average. In the twenty late states the outlook is for a crop of 16.7 per cent greater than harvested in 1926 and 4.4 per cent more than the average of the past five years 15 9-26.

New Jersey Prospects.

Movement from Virginia, where the early crop had made heavy yields, is nearly at an end. Prospects in New Jersey were for a crop 26 per cent greater than harvested last year but 3 per cent less than the average of 1922-26. Early potatoes in New Jersey, Long Island, and southern New England were already moving to market.

The production forecast on August 1 in the various potato raising states in bushels was: Main, 40,157,000; New Hampshire, 2,030,000; Vermont, 3,322,000; Massachusetts, 1,949,000; Rhode Island, 408,000; Connecticut, 1,871,000; New York, 31,752,000; New Jersey, 9,135,000; Pennsylvania, 26,071,000; Michigan, 31,262,000; Wisconsin, 28,948,000; Minnesota, 34,760,000; North Dakota, 10,441,000; Maryland, 4,860,000; Virginia, 17,606,000; Idaho, 21,976,000; Colorado, 14,336,000; Washington, 12,371,000.

BARRYMORE WAS NEWSPAPERMAN

Now Famous Actor Took to Stage at Age of 21.

John Barrymore, who is amazing and delighting motion picture fans in his appearance as Francois Villon in "The Beloved Rogue," now showing at the Ceramic theatre, has achieved a position of eminence in his profession that seems to have been indicated from birth.

For Barrymore, whose portrayal of the impulsive, whimsical Villon, poet and beggar and thief of fifteenth century Paris, is the best thing he has ever done for the screen, descends from an old American stage family. His father was Maurice Barrymore, well known actor, and his mother was a sister of the great John Drew. His brother, Lionel, is one of the present, most prominent actors on the American stage and the fame of his sister, Ethel, is international.

John Barrymore, strangely, did not follow immediately in the footsteps of his father. He began his career as a newspaper man, but on reaching the age of 21, went on the stage. Within ten years he was at the top, internationally famous. He crowned his achievements with a trip to London where, with his own company, he presented a group of Shakespearean performances in the famous Haymarket.

Returning to America, Barrymore plunged into motion pictures and one success followed another. His "Beau Brummel,' "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "The Lotus Eater" and "The Sea Beast" captured the public fancy in rapid order. And now comes "The Beloved Rogue," doubly interesting because it is not only his greatest screen triumph, but also marks his first production following affiliation with United Artist.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

IT IS TO KNOW.

Ohio bankers have been traveling around the state visiting farms and getting first-hand information on crops and live stock. They have been looking into the farmer's problems—finding out why he is often in debt. More bankers might well do the same thing. First hand information is probably one of the most important things in the world.

PLENTY OF CAPACITY.

A champion chess player plays 28 games at once, working at it 12 hours. He won 22 of them and at the end of the ordeal appeared as fresh as at the beginning. Freakish, somebody will say. But it shows the capacity of the human brain.

There is plenty of capacity. The thing is to have the industry and patience to bring it out.

IN AMERICA TOO.

A New York woman police officer says babies can sometimes be rented or bought in that city. She, herself, in search of evidence, bought a baby from a poverty-stricken mother for $25. She blames the ban against children in apartment houses.

And this is in the United States—not in China.

FORCED LOYALTY.

In Turkey members of parliament, government officials, teachers, soldiers, and others, are forced by law to wear clothes and shoes made in their own country. Trying to get loyalty by law is a poor way. The way to get trade is to make the best goods, and advertise that fact to the people. We are all entitled to the best goods if we can get them without stealing. Turkey has a lot to learn about democracy.

ADJUSTMENT.

A Milwaukee girl, whose back had been broken for a year, died the other day. Long before she died she had earned the title of Milwaukee's "happiest girl." She was Elaine Spurbeck. In her misfortune her courage never faltered. The capacity of the human being for adjustment is something inspiring.

THE MYSTERY.

A New York financier condemns business men because they don't pay any more attention to young men starting in business. High school graduates, he says, are thrown out into the world of affairs with finance a complete mystery to them.

"Get your business men to take the mystery out of finance for school boys. They want facts," he says.

Perhaps the principal fact about finance for boys and young men to learn is that you can't spend more than you earn and get away with it for very long.

NAG TRAINS BY SWIMMING

Bright Patch, son of the famous old turf star, Dan Patch, is one horse that has his own way of training. Bright Patch's owner is putting the nag in shape for the September races at the Minnesota state fair by giving the sturdy trotter a daily swim in the Mississippi river. The swims are to cure lameness and develop the nag's wind.
